6000 Marchers in Lowell's Greatest Labor Day Parade

Soldiers from Camp Devens in Line With Unions—Women in Paper Costumes Describe the Human Flag—Many Floats and Other Attractive Features in the Biggest Labor Day Parade in City's History

Had Samuel Gompers, international president of the American Federation of Labor, who a few months ago issued a proclamation for the observance of Labor day, been in Lowell yesterday he would have felt proud of the labor people of the Spindle City, for the celebration held in this city was, without exception, the best of its kind ever conducted here. The parade, the first number on the program, held in the forenoon, had 6000 marchers, men and women, in line and contained a number of pleasing features which added material to the huge success of the day. The spring events constructed of the common in the afternoon were carried out without the slightest hitch, such

to the satisfaction of all, while the great mass meeting held on the South common to the evening demonstrated to a great extent that Lowell's labor is well organized that all connected with the craft affiliations are greatly interested in the advancement of unionism. Of course the biggest attraction of the day was the parade, which was held in the forenoon, and from the minute that the huge mass of toilers swung in line to the time that the parade was dismissed by the chief marshal everything moved with the precision of clock work. The weather man supplied great marching weather, with the result that contrary to other years all who participated in the long march stuck to the sidewalks.

ORDER FOR A MILLION EMERGENCY RATIONS FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—An order for a million emergency rations for the overseas forces was announced today by the war department. The ration corresponds to the "iron ration" of the British troops. It is composed of ground meat and wheat compressed into a cake and a block of sweet chocolate and will sustain a man a day.

THE GRAND JURY

The grand jury came to Lowell this morning and held a session at the court house in Gorham street. There were several cases heard and among them were about a half dozen from this city, the most important being that of Allen Gail Stedgert, a former lieutenant in the United States army, who was located at Ayer, and who is being charged with polygamy. There were two cases for felonious assault and the remainder were breaking and entering. It is expected that the jury will report Friday and next Monday the criminal session of the superior court will open in this city.

AT ARCADIAN COTTAGE

A very enjoyable party was held at the Arcadian Cottage, Kearsarge, N. H., the home of Mrs. Minnie E. McIntire, last Thursday evening. Music and dancing were enjoyed. The house was beautifully decorated with red, white and blue jack-o'-lanterns. The guests included people from Brookton, Everett, Brookline, New Bedford, Somerville, Portland, Lowell and several other cities. The hostesses were Mary and Elizabeth Sullivan of Brookline and Jennie and Margaret McGrath of Lowell. Other Lowell people present were the Misses Margaret McCann, Nellie Fitzgerald and Margaret Teague. The party closed at a late hour, all singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

MRS. F. H. EARLE FALL RIVER LADY

Says Vitalitas Is Splendid. What It Did for Her Stomach and Blood.

"Have taken Vitalitas and found it splendid; like it better than anything I have ever taken," writes Mrs. F. H. Earle, Fall River lady of 35 Brayton avenue.

We like this comment because it fits the case of hundreds of people who are praising Vitalitas and who are finding new strength and health in its use. Mrs. Earle further writes that it was for disordered stomach and poor blood condition that she took Vitalitas. The benefits, she declares, are wonderful and she could not wish to feel better than she does now.

From Fall River alone we have received perhaps hundreds of written statements praising Vitalitas in the most enthusiastic terms. Some of them tell of people being quickly relieved of chronic indigestion, others of complete relief from rheumatism, nervous debility, liver or kidney ills. These reports are themselves, proof that what we maintain is true. Vitalitas is the best of all known natural remedies for the rebuilding of the system, purifying of the blood and toning of the nerves. Come to our store today and get a supply of Vitalitas.

Haig Wins Notable Victory Huns Flee on 50 Mile Front German Masses Mowed Down

Haig After Smashing Lines Protecting Douai and Cambrai Threatens to Outflank Main Hindenburg Line—British Took Lens, Great Coal Center, Without Opposition—Germans Suffered Worst Disaster of War in Loss of Drocourt-Queant Line—British Gain Four Miles on the Bapaume-Cambrai Road—Hun Evacuation of All of Northern France Near

(By The Associated Press)

On a front virtually 50 miles, from just below Ypres to a point near Peronne on the Somme, the German armies are in retreat.

GLORIOUS VICTORY FOR HAIG

The retreat has been forced by the series of unremitting hammer blows inflicted by Marshal Foch in the past six or seven weeks. It has now been accelerated by the notable victory won by Field Marshal Haig yesterday in breaking through the strong defensive lines protecting the railway centers of Douai and Cambrai and threatening to outflank even the main Hindenburg line south of St. Quentin.

10,000 HUNS CAPTURED

Already the capture of 10,000 prisoners by the British is reported. The German casualties in killed and wounded are declared to have been notably heavy as their thickly massed corps felt the force of the British blow.

GERMANS FACE DISASTER

So pronounced and speedy is the advance that it seems as if the Germans, if they have not met with a disaster, are on the verge of one.

The retreat, which had been proceeding somewhat leisurely both north and south of the Somme, has been markedly accentuated north of that river.

BRITISH TAKE LENS

In this movement the important French coal mining city of Lens, at the gates of which the British pounded vainly, virtually all last year, has been evacuated, the British moving on.

BRITISH SMASH ON IN FLANDERS

To the north of Flanders the retreat is continuing and the British have closed up the Lys salient by taking possession of the village of Wulverghem, two miles south of Kemmel.

GERMANS ADMIT DEFEAT

South of Lens the Germans are apparently acknowledging themselves beaten on the Queant-Drocourt line, where Haig's break-through was effected, and are retreating without attempting a counter drive.

BRITISH TAKE TOWN AFTER TOWN

Still further south the retirement has resulted in the evacuation of areas three to four miles deep on both sides of the Bapaume-Cambrai road, the British taking town after town.

HAIG SURPRISES GERMANS

Though the German command must have been anticipating an attack on the Hindenburg switch line, which the British had closely approached in their earlier advances, it apparently was not expected at the moment. The Germans seem to have been surprised at the quickness with which Haig's Canadians and other British forces after fighting their way up to the line, organized a crushing attack against the line itself.

GAIN FOUR MILES ON 20 MILE FRONT

This morning alone on the 20-mile front where the British mainly are engaged, they are reported to have advanced four miles. This seems to emphasize the cleanness of the break, and, with the large captures of prisoners, points to the demoralization of the German forces.

FALL OF CAMBRAI NEAR

The fall of Douai and Cambrai, which now seems not improbable in the near future, would put the entire German line out of joint between the North sea and Rheims and would be likely to force the evacuation of a great part of northern France, now occupied by the Germans.

FRANCO-AMERICAN SUCCESS

Operations by the French and Americans in the south may be counted upon to work toward such a result. There is a hint in today's despatches that some development of importance is impending on the southern front, where the left flank of the Hindenburg line is under Franco-American pressure.

Greatest Battle of Present Drive

Strongholds vital to the German defenses in northern France, which they sought to hold with large reserve forces rushed forward at the last moment, have fallen before the rapidly advancing British forces. Driving through the Drocourt-Queant line, English and Canadian troops are pushing the Germans before them in the greatest battle of the present offensive and one of the most important contests of the war.

The English have driven a wedge into the German lines with the taking of Ennetigny and a strongly fortified enemy position northeast of that town. The Douai plains spread out before the invaders with no natural defenses to overcome such as have been surmounted in reaching their present lines. In the same sector to the south, English and Scottish troops are advancing, capturing many towns and villages, including Noreuil.

Thousands of Prisoners Taken

Thousands of prisoners passing to the rear testify to the superiority of the British attack. The various units represented by them indicate the haste with which the Germans rushed reinforcements into the battle in an effort to stave off the disaster of a completely broken line in the defenses protecting the cities of Douai and Cambrai. The capture of these cities by Field Marshal Haig would deprive the Germans of two of their most important bases of supplies in northern France.

British Gain on Lys Salient

On the Lys front the British forces continue to gain ground in the direction of Estaires. Here it seems probable that the Germans plan to fall back to a line through Armentieres with the defenses of the Hindenburg line in their rear, which the British must break through before Lille.

Crews of Schooners Sunk by U-Boat Brought Into Canadian Port

Had Been Out Nearly a Week in 31 Dories—Picked Up by Trawler

A CANADIAN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 3.—One hundred and fifty-nine men, comprising the crews of a Norwegian steamer and five Lunenburg, New Brunswick and French fishing schooners, recent victims of a German submarine, have arrived here on a trawler. They had been out nearly a week in 31 dories and were picked up off the Grand Banks.

MAN RELIEVED OF LIBERTY BOND AND CASH IN MERRIMACK SQUARE

A pocketbook containing $630 in cash and a $50 Liberty bond was stolen from the person of Adam Voleski of this city yesterday.

Voleski, who lives in Perry's court, reported to the police that while he was boarding a Lowell-Lawrence car in Merrimack square, he was relieved of the cash and the bond. The pocketbook which contained the valuables was in one of his hip pockets and was removed while he was standing on the running board of the car. He did not discover his loss until the car was about to start. After the police were notified, Merrimack square and vicinity as well as the railroad station were covered by officers, but the pickpocket succeeded in making his getaway.

A DAGGER IN THE BACK

That's the woman's dread when she gets up in the morning to start the day's work. "Oh how my back aches!" GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules taken today ease the backache of tomorrow—taken every day ends the backache for all time. Don't delay. What's the use of suffering? Begin taking GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules today and be relieved tomorrow. Take three or four every day and be permanently free from wrenching, distressing back pain. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Since last GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been the National Remedy of Holland, the Government of Netherlands having granted a special charter authorizing the use of the name "GOLD MEDAL" in Holland would almost as soon be without bread as she would without her "Real Dutch Remedy," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This is the one reason why you will find the woman and children of Holland so sturdy and robust. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original Haarlem Oil Capsules imported direct from the laboratory in Haarlem, Holland. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Look for the name on every sealed package, three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you. Accept only the GOLD MEDAL. All others are imitations.

PREMIER LENINE BETTER

Poisoned Cigarets Found on Woman Who Attempted to Assassinate Bolshevik Leader

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 3.—Dora Kaplan, the Russian revolutionary who attacked Premier Lenin, has refused to disclose the names of her accomplices or to give any information regarding the attack, says a despatch from Moscow to the Berlin Lokai Anzeiger. She said that she recently arrived in Moscow from the Crimea. Witnesses stated that a student about 15 years old stopped the premier and handed him a paper and at the same time two women approached him. Dora Kaplan, after the shooting, fled into the street, where she was arrested and taken to the ministry of war. Poisoned cigarettes were found on her.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 3.—The condition of Nikolai Lenin, Bolshevik premier, has so improved that physicians consider all danger passed, according to a Moscow despatch received through Berlin.

THE VERY LATEST TIPS ON WHEAT SAVING

During the present week Lowell will be favored by the extension service of the Mass. Agricultural college in that two experts in demonstrating are to be sent here to tell Lowell women latest ideas and recipes in wheat saving.

Mrs. Esther Grossman, who will be here today and Wednesday, has been employed by the immigration bureau to assist their work and has been employed in co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics.

Mrs. Leonora Pendergast, who will be here on Thursday, is a graduate of Simmons college, and has been demonstrating on the Boston food truck for the past month.

It is suggested that any woman attending these demonstrations bring her plate and spoon as was the custom last winter.

This week's schedule is as follows: Tuesday, Sept. 3—2 p. m. girls' canning club will meet at the war work headquarters with Mrs. H. M. Parker, leader.

Wednesday, Sept. 4—9-11—Mrs. Geo. Hagerman will give a free demonstration on canning at the Saco-Lowell community kitchen. Any woman may bring her can and fruits and vegetables.

Thursday, Sept. 5—9-11—Mrs. Esther Grossman will give a free demonstration on wheatless recipes on the food demonstration truck at Moore street, assisted by Mrs. Katharine Humphrey.

Friday, Sept. 6—9-11—Mrs. Esther Grossman will give a free demonstration on wheatless recipes on the food demonstration truck at the Third street common, assisted by Mrs. David A. Haskell.

Thursday Sept. 5—9-11: Mores school girls' canning club will meet at the Washington club with Miss Mary Kilpatrick, leader.

1.30—Greenhage girls' canning club at the Saco-Lowell community kitchen.
2.30 p. m.—Mrs. Leonora Pendergast will give a demonstration on the food conservation truck at Pawtucket square. Mrs. L. A. Ayer will assist.
Friday, Sept. 6—9-11—Mrs. Katharine Humphrey will give a free demonstration on canning at the Saco-Lowell community kitchen. Women may bring cans and fruits or vegetables.

WOULD USE ELEPHANTS IN RECONSTRUCTION OF FRANCE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3.—John Ringling, circus owner, has determined to propose to the allied governments that African elephants be tamed and used in the reconstruction of France after the war.

Because gun and shell fire at the battle fronts are slaughtering mules and horses by the tens of thousands, Mr. Ringling and Edmond Lapin of the University of Louvain, Belgium met in conference here recently and discussed plans for using the heretofore African elephant in reconstruction work in Europe.

The man agreed that the loss of horses and mules could not be replaced for many years, and, since African elephants may be found in vast numbers, and be tamed easily, both felt positive that the allies would assist in the shipment of the big beasts.

"One elephant will do the work of 20 horses," said Mr. Lapin, who has charge of the Belgian government's business in the Congo. "Europe must be reconstructed and there will be no horses. We are using the African elephant in carrying timber from the forest, in plowing and in all kind of farm work. He carries and lifts beams and girders for the construction of buildings."

LOYAL WAMESIT LODGE
The regular meeting of the Loy Wamesit lodge 7102, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in Beaconmont hall.

On the agenda was a paper read by P. G. Williams, building, Middletown, with N. G. Frank E. Cleveland presiding. There were two propositions for membership. Following this P. G. Williams read a letter giving on the information that Brother Thomas Todd of Everett, a non-resident member of this lodge, has joined the army. Visitors were present including Rufus R. MacDonald of Taunton, a non-resident member and P. G. of the lodge, and was given a hearty welcome by his many friends whom he has not seen for about 17 years. After he had given a few remarks, the meeting was adjourned until Sept. 16. There was also a meeting of the Wamesit Star association in the same hall on Sunday morning. First Vice President Freeman Lightowler was in charge of the meeting. Following the business meeting a social hour was held during which the following contributed to the entertainment; piano solos by P. G. John Barrett and A. W. Henderson; songs by P. G. James P. MacArdie, Brother Edward Russell, P. G. George Adams and also a chorus of 20 voices; readings by P. G. M. Edward T. Mackley, Edward Russell, P. G. Arthur Capper, P. G. Freeman Lightowler, P. G. William Atkinson and others.

Another non-resident member, P. G. Herbert Howley of Uxbridge was also cordially welcomed.

A unique set of signs met the gaze of visitors by auto to Point Breeze. The first one reads: "Why rush?" Then a little further on is another one. It merely says: "Toot." Then a little further on another neatly painted sign commands "Toot again." After this sign command comes: "Thank you."

Because gun and shell fire at the battle fronts are slaughtering mules and horses by the tens of thousands, Mr. Ringling and Edmond Lapin of the University of Louvain, Belgium met in conference here recently and discussed plans for using the heretofore African elephant in reconstruction work in Europe.

The man agreed that the loss of horses and mules could not be replaced for many years, and, since African elephants may be found in vast numbers, and be tamed easily, both felt positive that the allies would assist in the shipment of the big beasts.

"One elephant will do the work of 20 horses," said Mr. Lapin, who has charge of the Belgian government's business in the Congo. "Europe must be reconstructed and there will be no horses. We are using the African elephant in carrying timber from the forest, in plowing and in all kind of farm work. He carries and lifts beams and girders for the construction of buildings."

LOYAL WAMESIT LODGE
The regular meeting of the Loy Wamesit lodge 7102, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in Beaconmont hall.

On the agenda was a paper read by P. G. Williams, building, Middletown, with N. G. Frank E. Cleveland presiding. There were two propositions for membership. Following this P. G. Williams read a letter giving on the information that Brother Thomas Todd of Everett, a non-resident member of this lodge, has joined the army. Visitors were present including Rufus R. MacDonald of Taunton, a non-resident member and P. G. of the lodge, and was given a hearty welcome by his many friends whom he has not seen for about 17 years. After he had given a few remarks, the meeting was adjourned until Sept. 16. There was also a meeting of the Wamesit Star association in the same hall on Sunday morning. First Vice President Freeman Lightowler was in charge of the meeting. Following the business meeting a social hour was held during which the following contributed to the entertainment; piano solos by P. G. John Barrett and A. W. Henderson; songs by P. G. James P. MacArdie, Brother Edward Russell, P. G. George Adams and also a chorus of 20 voices; readings by P. G. M. Edward T. Mackley, Edward Russell, P. G. Arthur Capper, P. G. Freeman Lightowler, P. G. William Atkinson and others.

Another non-resident member, P. G. Herbert Howley of Uxbridge was also cordially welcomed.

A unique set of signs met the gaze of visitors by auto to Point Breeze. The first one reads: "Why rush?" Then a little further on is another one. It merely says: "Toot." Then a little further on another neatly painted sign commands "Toot again." After this sign command comes: "Thank you."

CAMOUFLAGED

U-Boat Operating Off Nova Scotia Bears Large Wave-like Lines

Fishing Captain Was Taken Aboard—Had Long Talk With Hun Commander

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 3.—The German submarine operating among the fishing fleet off the Nova Scotia coast is camouflaged with large wave-like lines, according to Captain Manuel Quaderos of the American fishing schooner Rush, sunk by the U boat a week ago. Captain Quaderos was with 19 members of his crew reached his home here last night, said that the undersea craft was painted dark gray and that for several feet above the water line the camouflage was visible. The U boat, he said, was about 250 feet in length. Capt. Quaderos and three of his men were aboard the enemy craft for about three hours and had a lengthy conversation with its commander. The latter spoke excellent English and Portuguese as well. He told the fishermen that there were American magazines and newspapers on the U-boat and he accused the newspapers of distorting the truth about the submarines. He said that when his vessel left Germany it was under instructions to sink only three masters, but that because of the attitude of the American press orders had come to the U-boat by wireless to sink everything in sight.

The submarine commander had a list of vessels he had sunk. It was headed by the American swordfishing schooner Progress, one of eight fishermen sent to the bottom off Nantucket early in August. Captain Quaderos inquired whether the Gloucester schooners Rob Roy and Annie Perry, sunk off the Nova Scotia coast a short time later, were on the list, and the submarine commander said he could not find the names on the paper he held.

Captain Quaderos and three of his men were the only persons on the Rush when the undersea raider suddenly appeared from out of the fog at 6:45 in the morning. The remainder of the crew were in the dories busy with their trawls. As the submarine approached Captain Quaderos said, the submarine commander called to him to come aboard the U-boat and bring his three men with him. They complied with the order. Later when the other members of the crew rowed back to their boat, Captain Quaderos and his three companions were transferred to one of the dories.

The Rush, meanwhile had been sent to the bottom. After a row of four hours the men were all picked up by the fishing schooner John Fallon and were landed at a Canadian port.

CAPT. ROOSEVELT HOME

Son of Colonel Roosevelt Wounded—Left Arm Useless—Suffers from Nerves

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 3.—Captain Archie Roosevelt, son of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, arrived here yesterday from France, where he was wounded last April during the capture of Cantigny by American troops in the first offensive operation carried out by General Pershing's men. On the same ship were 18 other officers and 300 men who also have been invalided home.

Captain Roosevelt's left arm was shattered by a machine gun bullet while leading his men in a charge, and he also is suffering from what he described as a "bad case of nerves."

His arm is partially paralyzed and it may be many months before he can return to active duty.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A Certain Man who found out I was collecting things for this column asked me if all I had to do was to go around and pick up little items for it. He looked at me out of the corner of his eye, giving me a side slant, so to speak, as if he thought I ought to put in part of my time over at the Navy Yard weaving blankets. But I answered him civilly and told him that was about all I had to do. I might have mentioned that in the course of prospecting for lead I nevertheless had no doubt but that some day I should find gold!

That interview in The Sun last Saturday in which J. E. Moody, of the Turner Centre Creamery company, said he believed the time would soon be here when girls and young women would be hired to drive light trucks and deliver milk and food, made a hit with me. I think J. E. has the right ideas on that subject. Up in Bath, Me. last summer I saw a couple of women driving milk wagons and they seemed to get over the ground as well as men drivers. I think if a young woman here advertised that she could drive a truck and wanted a job, she would be given work.

I asked Billy Richards, the Lowell fancy step dancer, last week how he liked life up in Camp Devens. He has been up there eight months. "I like it fine," he said. "I'm satisfied and no kick coming on my part at all."

"How is the grub coming?" I asked him. "Fine. Good grub, plenty of it and it tastes good. But no one gets pie and sweet cakes, but no one puts up any growl on that. Most of the boys' folks send them enough of that kind of food and besides, there is the post exchange where you can buy all the pie and cake you want of good quality and at a fair price."

Now isn't that a good, philosophical spirit for an American boy, soldiering for the time being, to have?

I notice they have put up a neat and serviceable wire fence to enclose the grass plot in Monument square and the grass plot in front of city hall. On the warm summer evenings I have noticed two or three hundred men sitting on the edge of the granite curbing that encloses these plots and I suppose the park commission thought the grass might be killed off. If it had been earlier in the season the combination of putting up this necessary fence and at the same time scattering ten or twelve good benches around this square, might have been a good one. The workers of the city certainly appreciate these open air breathing spaces.

Keith's and the Lowell Opera House opened their winter season last night and that makes two more places to go. I certainly do enjoy a good vaudeville show and a good play. I understand both the above houses had large audiences last night and The Sun wishes them a prosperous season.

There is a squirrel up in Fort Hill park to whom I must give three or four lessons in cracking nuts some evening this week and as soon as I get this duty off my mind I plan to take in these two shows. As a dead-end? Well, I should not. I am going to lay down 25 cents for the best seat in that part of the ceiling each playhouse affords and then, afterwards, if I want to, I can speak my mind about what I got for my money. I remember seeing Julius Noa, (leading man at the Opera House) two years ago playing in the Miracle Man at Brockton and I thought then that Julie was pretty good.

I have been wondering how long it would be before the man power problem here in Lowell would reach that stage where the dairy lunch places would have to use women clerks behind the marble slatted counter. I see that the Waldorf place has hired a good looking blonde woman to preside behind the counter and I think she makes a good clerk. She "hollers" "plate off," and other lunch room terms to the serving man in back, in a masterful way too.

I have to confess, although I know when they do it they are living up to the food administrator's rule, that this one spoonful of sugar this restaurant people put in your coffee, doesn't, so far as I am concerned, do the business. I wish I could have more sugar. I have had, therefore, more or less sympathy and I think I admire a chap I have seen in one or two of the Lowell restaurants, who carries his own supply of sugar with him in a small pasteboard box, and always produces it and pours in the amount of sugar he has to have, as if it were the most natural thing in the world.

WHEAT $2.20 BUSHEL

Pres. Wilson Sets Price and Names Board to Judge Necessity of Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—This year's government wheat price was continued in effect for the 1919 crop by President Wilson yesterday in a proclamation fixing $2.20 as the minimum price at primary markets. Winter wheat will be sold at this price, but the president accompanied his proclamation with a statement giving notice that before the harvest of next spring he will appoint a commission to report on increased cost of farm labor and supplies to guide him in determining whether there shall be an advance in price for the spring crop. The possibility of peace before the middle of 1920 was touched upon in the president's statement, in connection with the risk that by guaranteeing wheat prices the government might lose as much as half a billion dollars if Europe should find its supplies available from the southern hemisphere.

The proclamation fixes as reasonable guaranteed prices for number one northern spring wheat and its equivalent at the principal primary markets the following:

New York $2.39½; Philadelphia 2.39; Baltimore and Newport News 2.38½; Duluth $2.23½; Minneapolis $2.21½; Chicago $2.26; St. Louis $2.24; Kansas City and Omaha $2.18; New Orleans and Galveston 2.28; Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Astoria, San Francisco and Los Angeles, $2.20; Salt Lake City, Great Falls, Pocatello and Spokane, $2.00.

The president's memorandum says: "In issuing today the government's guarantee of the same price for the 1919 wheat crop that was guaranteed for the 1918 crop, I wish it to be understood that the spring of 1919 I will appoint a disinterested commission who will secure for me the facts by that time disclosed as to the increased cost of farm labor and supplies, using the three year pre-war average prices of wheat, of labor and of supply costs as a basis, and that from this information I shall determine whether there should be an increase in price above the present level and, if so, what advance, in order to maintain for the farmer a good return. Should it then appear that an increase is demanded over the present guarantee, however, it will be applied only to those who have 1918 wheat."

"It is the desire and intention of all departments of the administration to give to the wheat grower a fair and stimulative return in order that the present acreage in wheat may be maintained."

"I find a great conflict of opinion among various sections of the country as to the price that should be named as a minimum guarantee. It must be obvious to all, however, that the factors which will make for increased or decreased cost of production of next year's harvest cannot be determined until the near approach to the harvest."

"In giving a guaranteed price for wheat one year in advance (the only industry guaranteed by the government), there is involved a considerable national risk. If there should be peace or increased shipping available before the middle of 1920, Europe will naturally supply itself from the large stores of much cheaper wheat now in the southern hemisphere; and, therefore, the government is undertaking a risk which might in such an event result in a national loss of as much as $500,000,000 through an unsalable surplus; or, in any event, in maintaining a high level of price to our own people for a long period sub-

How an expert judges a cigarette

WHEN you ask an expert to give his opinion on a cigarette, he draws in the smoke, and then slowly blows it out. That is the way he tests it for certain essential qualities.

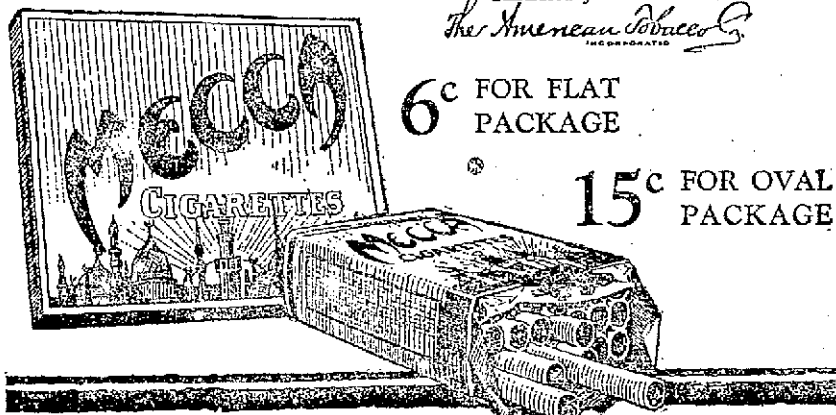

If he finds smoothness, fragrance—"pep"—body, he calls it a real smoke.

You can't find these different qualities in one tobacco. Nature doesn't grow any one tobacco that gives you everything you want in a cigarette.

That's why, to get the Mecca flavor, they take 12 tobaccos—7 American and 5 Turkish. They mix these 12 tobaccos, and then, for 50 hours, pass moist heat through them all. This is the famous Still-Blend process.

By it they draw the smoothness and fragrance of the Turkish into the American, and the body and "pep" of the American into the Turkish until all of the 12 become 1 tobacco.

That's how they get the flavor that has made Mecca the favorite of over a million smokers.

You can foretell the future

You say "The man who could foretell illness would make a fortune!" Of course no man can—in the sense you mean. But you can tell pretty accurately what to expect your own body to do.

How?

Get this simple physiology:

Your body machine has to be repaired. It also must have fuel to supply heat and energy. Your food supplies both repair material and fuel. But a furnace always produces ashes and clinkers. If these accumulate, the furnace becomes clogged and cannot work properly.

If your bowels become clogged—you suffer from constipation.

Perhaps you hurry to work or play and neglect to obey Nature's call. Waste matter stagnates in the bowels. You go right on eating, drinking, working. What happens? The constipation becomes established. Waste matter undergoes decay, fermentation and germ action. Poisons are formed, absorbed, carried all over the body. They attack the weakest part of you first.

Then you know you're sick. In reality you've been getting sick since you missed that first movement.

If you want to keep well—wholly well, all the time, so that you're on your toes every day, remove that waste.

Many people take pills, castor oil, purgative mineral waters to force the bowels to act.

These act, but they irritate, tire out the intestinal muscles, make the trouble worse.

Others take "salts," which attract water to the intestines and flush the bowels—about as gently as a fire hose. A re-action follows that makes the intestines dryer than ever and aggravates the constipation.

You needn't do this and weaken your system just because all of your ancestors did.

The Nujol Treatment moves the waste regularly, and easily. It is a purely mechanical process, absolutely harmless, based on a simple principle—that you can move a softened mass out of a tube more easily than a hard, dry one. It doesn't gripe—you won't know you have taken anything until after a few days your bowels move at the regular hour. It makes you "regular as clockwork."

Don't try to foretell illness. Foretell it. Don't wait until you are sick. Keep well now. Your druggist has Nujol.

FOR LIBERTY LOAN

Pres. Wilson to Tour Country—Starts Sept. 30

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Under the tentative program for President Wilson's fourth Liberty loan speaking tour, he probably will leave Washington about Sept. 30, to be away throughout the three weeks of the loan campaign period.

In a swing that may carry him to the Pacific coast, he expects to make stops in nearly every section of the country.

He has promised Senator Ashurst that if the itinerary will permit he will visit the Grand Canon of Arizona.

GREEK SOLDIERS WERE WELL ENTERTAINED

Five hundred and fifty Greek-speaking soldiers visited here yesterday to assist in the celebration of Labor day by the Lowell Greek community, and everyone who was busy in this part of the day's program was repaid for his efforts, as it proved a big success. The soldier boys arrived on an early train and were conducted by the committee to the Greek church. After receiving communion, they formed and marched in the parade.

At noon, immediately following the parade, the Greek division enjoyed a banquet at the Y.M.C.A. Costas Vurgapoulos, president of the community was the toastmaster and the invited guests included the commanders of the soldiers, namely: Lieutenants Livingston and Shanley, accompanied by their wives; Dr. and Mrs. John C. Gaidetzis, Dr. George A. Demopoulos, Dr. Constantinos Generalis and Rev. Anagnostopoulos.

Dr. Gaidetzis spoke to the soldiers and declared that he hoped to be with them when they marched through Germany, and impressed upon them the fact that not only were they upholding the ideals of this country when they donned the uniform, but they were also defending the principles of democracy of their own native land.

The dance in the evening at Asseniate hall marked the first annual dance enjoyed by Greek-speaking soldiers of Camp Devens. The hall was well filled and the party proved a very pleasant one, and the dancing was thoroughly enjoyed to the music of Hubbard's orchestra.

The proceeds of the dance will go directly as a benefit fund for the soldiers. There were also present, Lieut. Wilkins and Sergt. Rago of the intelligence office at Camp Devens. The dance ended at 11.15 so that the soldiers might make train connections for their trip back to camp.

Sergt. John A. Shannon, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in general charge of the dance, assisted by Sergt. J. Regan, Private M. Anagnostos, Privates Pan Athas, Caretzakis, Cassavates and Lolos as aids. Private Constantine Rozes was floor director.

WILL NOT CHANGE TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Abraham Smith, a Middlesex street dealer, through his counsel, Albert S. Howard of the firm of Quin, Howard & Rogers, attempted this morning at a regular meeting of the municipal council to have the traffic ordinance, which forbids drivers of vehicles to allow their wagons or automobiles to stand more than five minutes in Middlesex street in the vicinity of the railroad station, repealed, but his efforts proved fruitless, for after being given a hearing he was informed that if the ordinance did not show improvements other measures would be taken to have the blockade of traffic stopped at that point, and he was given leave to withdraw.

Mr. Howard, representing Mr. Smith, said his client owns and conducts a business establishment near the railroad station and the ordinance is now causing him hardships inasmuch as customers are not allowed to stop their vehicles at Mr. Smith's door more than a minute or two. He said Mr. Smith has been running a business in that vicinity for the past 25 years and is still to receive a complaint as to the blockade of traffic. He urged that the ordinance be changed to read 15 minutes instead of five minutes, and he stated that Mr. Lemaitre, Mr. Gaudette, Mr. Cohen and Mr. Hallett were also in favor of having the ordinance amended.

Mayor Thompson read a report of statistics taken at Mr. Smith's door by the war department last June, showing that at one time there were as many as five automobiles in front of the store from between 20 minutes and one hour. The mayor stated that the war department considered the place a dangerous one and that by allowing vehicles to stand there more than five minutes the transportation of war production was being hindered. The mayor also read a letter of appreciation for the passage of the ordinance written by C. P. Coyne, supervisor of the community work of the ordinance department, production division, who also requested that proper signs relative to the ordinance be placed in conspicuous places.

C. Harry Clapp stated that in his opinion if there was anything wrong with the ordinance it was that the rules were not drastic enough. Commissioner Brown said he believed the time should be changed from five minutes to two minutes. Finally on motion of Commissioner Brown it was voted to give the petitioner leave to withdraw.

Hearings were held on the following petitions, which were all referred: The New England Telephone company for the relocation of a pole in Union street, the Bay State Street Railway company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for the joint location of one pole in Yarnum avenue near Mammoth road, the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Loring street and one in Highland street, Lowell Building Trust, for permission to keep gasoline in the rear of 341 Middlesex street, James J. Norton for a garage and gasoline license at 119 Paige street, Adam Guilmotte for a garage and gasoline license in Hildreth street, the Otis Alton & Son company for a gasoline license at 286 Mt. Vernon street, Louis Poissant for a gasoline license at 136 Dalton street, the Clapp Stable & Garage company for a gasoline license at 500 Middlesex street and a garage and gasoline license in Arch street, Henry C. Pearson for a garage and gasoline license in the rear of 334 Stevens street and Alphonse Bibault for a gasoline license at 21 Wilder street.

John Vlahos was given a hearing on his petition for a gasoline license at 6 and 7 Sargent street, but John Manahan, E. W. Wright and Joseph P. Marchand appeared as remonstrants on the ground that if the license were granted it would be a public nuisance. The petition was referred. The petition of the Bay State Street Railway company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a joint pole location at the corner of Andover and Nesmith streets was read and Sept. 17 was set as the date for the hearing. On recommendation of Commissioner Morse it was voted to place a sewer in West Eleventh and West Tenth streets at a cost of $1250, the amount to be assessed to the abutters being $75.

The Bay State Street Railway company, the Postal Telegraph company, the New England Telephone company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation were given leave to withdraw their petition for ten joint pole locations in Gorham street. The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for two pole locations in Clark street was granted, as was that of the Bay State Street Railway company, the Postal Telegraph company, the New England Telephone company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for joint pole locations in Lawrence street. P. E. Plagg and others petitioned for the extension of the Hadley street sewer from No. 46 to 53 and 54 and the petition was referred to Commissioner Morse. An order designating polling places for the year 1918 was adopted. A requisition for the purchase of a carload of No. 1 clipped cuts for the street department, and by Commissioner Morse, was approved. The meeting then adjourned until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

AMERICAN WOUNDED

Convalescent Soldiers Transferred from London Hospitals to American Red Cross

PAINTON, England, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Many convalescent American soldiers are now being transferred from hospitals in London and other parts of England to the American Red Cross hospital on the south Devonshire coast here. The hospital is the former country home of a wealthy American, who turned it into an American hospital for British privates early in the war. It is now occupied almost entirely by American enlisted men, sick and wounded. The estate is one of the finest of its kind in Great Britain and its location is unsurpassed for convalescent cases. This particular section for southern England is known as the "English Riviera" on account of its abundance of sunshine and its bracing air. The hospital is a pleasant building, capable of about 200 beds and is staffed throughout by American doctors and nurses.

MILITARY TRAINING AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Students attending the Lowell Textile school this season will have in addition to their studies, a course in military training, and when the school opens this month there will be very nearly 100 men in uniform and they will be considered as belonging to a new army camp. They will remain here under training until the government calls for their services.

Capt. Charles M. Cecil has been appointed as military instructor, while there will also be assistants at the school, including three Textile students who have been at Plattsburg during the summer months, and who will probably receive commissions.

The new draft takes in many of the students and those attending the school under the draft law are planning to take up their studies, as well as attending the training battalion, and thus they may prove themselves worthy of winning commissions at some future date, when the government has called them into the national army.

There is a possibility that later on the military students may live in barracks at the school, where they will undergo the regular routine of a special army camp. Lowell men who come under the new draft will be given an opportunity to enter the Textile school, subject to the new arrangements, and information on this point may be obtained from the authorities at the school.

Principal Charles H. Eames left last night for Plattsburg, where he will attend a conference of the heads of colleges and technical schools that has been called by the government.

MRS. SKELK ACCUSED OF MURDER OF MISS GAY

LAWRENCE, Sept. 2.—When Bessie May Skelk, the Andover nurse who was arrested last Monday on a charge of larceny from the estate of the late Florence W. Gay of Andover, was arraigned in the district court today, an additional charge of the murder of Miss Gay was preferred as a result of an investigation conducted by the state authorities into the cause of Miss Gay's death.

Miss Gay died Dec. 13, 1917, the cause being given by the attending physician as cerebral hemorrhage. In April, 1918, her body was exhumed at the request of District Attorney Henry G. Wells and the stomach sent to Prof. Whitney of Harvard, who reported that he found arsenic in it.

Mrs. Skelk pleaded not guilty to both charges and waived the reading of the complaints. District Attorney Wells asked for a postponement of the case but Daniel J. Daley, counsel for Mrs. Skelk, opposed this, urging that the larceny charge be heard at once. The court finally decided to continue both cases till Sept. 14.

There was a long discussion between the court, counsel and physicians for the prosecution and defense as to whether Mrs. Skelk should be sent back to the hospital or committed to jail.

TO OBSERVE "DAISY DAY"

Saturday is to be observed as "Daisy Day" in Lowell, when the members of the Women's Auxiliary to the 101st Infantry will endeavor to raise a large sum of money for the benefit of what is termed the "Daisy Regiment." Aeroplanes sent from Boston, will fly over the city dropping daisies and pamphlets. There have been arrangements made whereby a great many of the mill bells will ring at noon-time. Commissioner Brown will send a truck to Merrimack square for the use of the committee in making speeches, etc. The workers will start out at 8 o'clock in the morning and as the deposits are made in their boxes they will give in exchange a small white daisy to be pinned on coat or dress. The ladies will be dressed in white, wearing white caps bearing the inscription, "101st U.S.A." Every city and town in the commonwealth having representatives working for the auxiliary will observe Saturday in this manner. The drive in Boston will be on a very large scale, with Eta M. Barr, managing director, who has visited Lowell several times, working on the committee, which is planning to have pamphlets and speeches on the program for the day. There will be a meeting this evening in the board of meeting rooms at the War Work Headquarters for the purpose of discussing the plans for this "Daisy Day."

WITH LOWELL BOYS IN ARMY AND NAVY

Lieut. Richard L. Donoghue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donoghue, 4 Hazeltine street, commissioned Saturday in the quartermaster corps of the army, will return to Lowell for a few days before reporting for his new duty as assistant to the chief of transportation in the quartermaster's department in New York city.

Lieut. Donoghue has been stationed at Camp Devens since he was sent by the exemption board of Division 3 last November and in the transportation division of the Q.M.C. at Devens he was singularly successful in his railroad experience holding him in good stead. He was commended to Sec. McAdoo by the federal director of railroads stationed at Ayer for his efficient work in train despatching at the time of the departure of the 78th division and the commission is a natural sequence to his work at that time. He was formerly a member of the Twentieth Century Bachelor club when "Charlie" Slattery's organization was in its youthful prime.

Lieut. King at Chicago

Lieut. Leo A. King, principal of the Edison school, and commissioned recently in the quartermaster corps, has been assigned to Chicago in an important department of the Q.M.C. Lieut. King is a product of Lowell schools, a graduate of Holy Cross college, was principal of the Edison school when he enlisted last winter.

Lieut. Arthur L. Eno, a young Lowell attorney, who enlisted last winter, too was in Lowell Saturday on a visit to his home before reporting to his station.

Private Cull Making Good

Private Arthur T. Cull, erstwhile of The Sun, now stationed at Camp Joseph B. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., is from all reports making good. He is clerk of his company at the cantonment and for a time set type in the printing department there and his work was quite satisfactory.

Private Frank Corbett, of Lowell, is also in camp and aside from the fact that the weather is just a bit hot the Lowell boys are well and happy.

Mr. Queenan Leaves

Mr. Joseph P. Queenan, recently appointed E. of C. secretary in the war work of the order, leaves tonight for the cantonment at Newport News, Va., where he will take up the work of the great order of E. of C. is doing in connection with the war. Mr. Queenan, of course, will find Lowell boys at the camp, for Lowell is probably represented in over one-half of the training camps of the country. Private George O'Malley, brother of William T. O'Malley of the Old Lowell bank, is stationed at this camp as well as several other well known young men.

Wm. Liddell Commissioned

In the list of commissions given out at artillery officers' school, Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., appears the name of Wm. Liddell, of Chambers street, who was recommended from Camp Devens for the school, and who from the first displayed keen interest in army work. His success in lauding the much coveted gold "bar" will be gratifying news to his many Lowell friends.

Two Sailors in One Family

Joseph G. Pyne, teacher of languages at the high school, and his brother, Thomas F. Pyne, formerly president of the Boston college club of Lowell, both of whom are in the navy of their country, are home for a few days visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pyne, Central street. Both young men look fine, feel splendid and say they will stay on the job until the Kaiser is taken a prisoner and incarcerated in St. Helena.

Lieut. Garrity at Buffalo

Lieut. Hugh Garrity, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Garrity, of Chelmsford street, is now attached to the medical corps at Fort Porter, Buffalo, N. Y., an ideal spot, he says. The young lieutenant is a great booster for Buffalo and the people of the Bison city and allows that at the fort a very high degree of efficiency is maintained. His brother, Thomas Garrity, now attached to the naval station at Kingsham, was home over the holiday and says that the life in the navy is simply great.

Lowell Men Commissioned

In the list just made public of the commissions awarded candidates at the school for infantry officers at Camp Lea, Va., appears the name of Brooks Woodworth, 19 Hawthorne street, who went to the school from Camp Devens. Lieut. Woodworth is favorably known in Lowell and his success in landing an officer's berth will be gratifying to his friends and former schoolmates.

Mr. Philip Loupre, of 72 Royal street, is one of the 60 New England men commissioned second lieutenants at the officers' school at Camp Gordon, Ga.

TRAVELLING MAN WELL KNOWN IN THIS CITY PASSES AWAY AT NASHUA

John O. Carpenter, a travelling man well known in this city, died Saturday night at his home, 25 Berkeley street, Nashua, N. H. He was born in Northampton, Mass., Oct. 15, 1850, the son of Olney and Louise (Smith) Carpenter, and went to Nashua when two years of age, desiring there ever since. He distributed small wares by a two-horse team and wagon through sections around Nashua and acquired a host of acquaintances, all of whom were his friends.

He was a popular man socially and a good companion. His death will be a shock to scores who were unaware of his illness, although his health had been for some time failing, so that he had gradually relinquished his business. He was a member of Ancient York lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Penolch lodge, I. O. O. F.; Nashonon encampment and Nashua lodge, B. P. O. E. He leaves a wife, Anna, and a son, Orlin Francis of Nashua.

REVENUE BILL

Greatest of All Tax Measures in the History of Nation Finished

Provides for the Raising of $8,000,000,000—Goes to House Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The new revenue bill—greatest of all tax measures in the history of the nation—with a levy affecting every individual and business concern in the country—was approved unanimously yesterday by the house ways and means committee. Chairman Kitchin will introduce the measure in the house today and ask that consideration of it begin next Friday. Leaders hope to send it to the senate within ten days after debate begins.

The final committee estimate of the revenue to be yielded under the new bill is $8,012,792,000, as against $3,941,633,000 last year under the present law. The largest source of estimated revenue is from taxes on excess profits, including war profits—$3,100,000,000—and the next is from taxes on incomes—$1,452,135,000 from individuals and $828,000,000 from corporations.

The increase in the taxes on the specified incomes of married persons without dependents is shown by the following table:

Incomes	Existing Law	Proposed Law
$ 2,500	$ 10	$ 30
3,000	20	60
3,500	30	90
4,000	40	120
4,500	60	150
5,000	80	180
10,000	355	845
25,000	1,750	4,425
50,000	5,180	12,495
100,000	15,180	39,000
1,000,000	475,180	647,005
5,000,000	3,140,180	3,827,005

The exemptions under the new bill are the same as under the old $1000 for single persons and $2000 for married persons with $200 additional allowed for each dependent child under 18 years of age. An exemption of $200 for each dependent incapable of self-support, because of mental or physical disability, also is allowed.

The estimated yield from sources other than incomes and excess and war profits include:

Transportation: Freight, $75,000,000; express, $20,000,000; passenger fares, $60,000,000; seats and berths, $5,000,000; all by pipe line, $1,650,000.

Telephone and telegraph: Messages, $12,000,000; insurance, $2,000,000; advertising (theaters, circuses, etc.), $100,000,000; club dues, $3,000,000.

Excise taxes: Automobiles, etc., $125,750,000; jewelry, sporting goods, etc., $50,000,000. Other taxes on luxuries at 10 per cent., $35,780,000; other taxes on luxuries, apparel, etc., above certain prescribed prices at 20 per cent., $151,005,000.

Gasoline, $40,000,000; yachts and pleasure boats, $1,000,000. Beverages, $1,187,800,000; stamp taxes, $32,000,000; tobacco, cigars, $61,534,690; cigarettes, $165,340,000; tobacco, $164,000,000; snuff, $9,100,000; paper and tubes, $1,500,000.

Special taxes: Capital stock, $70,000,000; brokers, $1,765,000; theatres, etc., $2,142,000; mail order sales, $5,000,000; bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables, $2,200,000; shooting galleries, $100,000; riding academies, $50,000; business license tax, $10,000,000; manufacturers of tobacco, $65,000; manufacturers of cigars, $850,000; manufacturers of cigarettes, $240,000; use of automobiles and motorcycles, $72,320,000.

The committee explained that it had decided upon the raising of $8,000,000,000 by taxation because it had accepted as a sound fiscal policy the recommendation of Secretary McAdoo that one-third of the government's estimated expenditures of $24,000,000,000 this year be obtained from this source and the remaining two-thirds by bonds.

Here, you men who beat your wives—if you want an alibi just blame it on this old geezer with the canine grimace, the great-grandfather of all wife beaters. This is a sculptured conception of him, called "The Forerunner," and in the shadow of his savagery stands his 20th century grandson.

TAMING WIFE BEATERS

Modern Cave Men Punished On Financial Whipping

Post Yell for Mercy

Husbands—How much would you give to beat your wife?

Wives—What would compensate you for a beating by your husband?

Superior Judge Thomas F. Graham, of San Francisco, appraises that privilege at $50 per session.

In divorce suits, that come before him, he has made it a rule to tax the wife-beaters in real coin—going on the principle that a dent in the pocketbook hurts that sort of fellow quite as much, if not more so than civil whipping post.

Your modern cave-man, the brute who enjoys giving his mate a black eye or two, can be made quite conscience-stricken when he is tapped firmly on the purse instead of on the back.

tax, but each partner's profits are liable whether distributed or not.

The bill applies the war and excess profits taxes to corporations only. Provision is made to protect corporations whose invested capital is less than $50,000 and those corporations in which invested capital is not a material producing factor.

Increases also were made in the estate taxes, which will range from 3 per cent. to 40 per cent. The increases as compared with the present bill follow:

Not exceeding $50,000, from 2 to 3 per cent.; $50,000 to $100,000, 4 to 6 per cent.; $100,000 to $250,000, 6 to 8 per cent.; $250,000 to $500,000, 10 to 12 per cent.; $500,000 to $1,000,000, 12 to 14 per cent.; $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, 14 to 21 per cent.; $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, 16 to 24 per cent.; $10,000,000 to $50,000,000, 18 to 27 per cent.; $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, 20 to 30 per cent.; $100,000,000 to $500,000,000, 22 to 35 per cent.; and exceeding $500,000,000, 25 to 40 per cent.

A record in house building was made at Bath, Me., recently when a seven-room house was put up in six days. All rough plumbing and electric wiring and setting furnace pipes is done, and the exterior is ready for painting. This house is situated in Washington park, where a house a week is the schedule for the balance of the year.

CAPTURED BY AMERICANS

Juvinig Taken After Five Days' Battle — Yankees Never Yield Ground

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The sad heap of what once were homes, which is all that remains of the place, wasn't even of tactical importance, says the correspondent for Reuters, Ltd., in a despatch from the headquarters of the American forces on the Aisne front, describing the capture of Juvinig by the American forces. The despatch continues:

Fought In Open

"There was very little fighting done in Juvinig itself, but in the neighboring valleys, where the fighting resolved itself into general infantry work, woodcraft and groundcraft proved invaluable to the Americans. They were mostly open-air men, with keen eyes and an appreciation of the country, and in the branching jumble of ravines they outplayed the Germans in working their way through without losing touch with their own line or being enveloped by the enemy. It was in consequence of their craft and good shooting that the American captures reached such a high figure, 550 being cleverly rounded up. For the Boche wasn't there to surrender. He was there to fight and had fought as long as he could hope remained."

"It was the 10th German regiment that tried to bar the way of the Americans, and the men of this regiment have nothing to reproach themselves for. They left many dead in those dark valleys and only surrendered when there was no other option."

Huns Were Desperate

"The enemy's measures to hold this plateau proved how seriously he must have regarded its loss. The Seventh and Eleventh reserve divisions seemed to have been the normal occupants of the line, but as they began to suffer from three other divisions were hurried up to reinforce them. One regiment, the 27th, marched 140 miles. The march started at dawn on Aug. 21 and the men went straight into the battle on their arrival."

Shortly after dawn on Sunday morning when the Americans' advance recommenced it became plain that the enemy's resistance was broken and he had decided that the plateau could not be held. Even then it seemed for a short time as if the Americans might have paid dear for what was left of the valley, but the men, flushed with victory, showed even greater determination than on the day before and after four hours, during which there was no forward movement possible, more cheerful news began to come to the Americans. Progress had been made by the French on our right and eventually a practically impossible position was created for the Germans, who were still trying to cling to the Soissons-St. Quentin road."

"From noon the struggle which had given us five strenuous days, reached a point where one could breathe freely. For all tactical purposes of the future the Juvinig plateau may be considered ours."

The Americans, says the correspondent of Reuters at American headquarters in France, have so far never yielded ground in France and they kept that proud record inviolate by their successful advance on Juvinig after three days and nights of the bitter fighting."

PATRIOTIC LECTURE AND CONCERT

A patriotic lecture will be given by one of the leading experts and highest authorities on ordnance and arm-

munition of the U. S. war department under the auspices of the Lisbon club of Lowell on Sunday, Sept. 3, at Lincoln hall, over the Lowell Opera House. Doors open to invited guests at 2 p. m. After 2.30 the general public who are cordially invited will be admitted. After the lecture a pleasing concert will be given by Sonja Almes of Boston. Sonja's Allies include Sonja, dancer, singer, elocutionist and pianist; petite Marguerite Barter, soprano; who always has something amusing and entertaining; Louise Purcell, dancer and assistant instructor; Elvira O'Neill, dancer; the pleasing vocalist, Greta Campbell; Alma Nelson, dramatic singer and comedienne; Dorothy Hild, soloist; Rosalie Vada, operatic contralto; Marie Purcell, reader and soubrette; Mlle. Anna Barreau, the blonde, the most striking personality of any singer on the stage. She also has one of the strongest voices ever heard in song. The company are girls, just girls, that's all. They are all young, the youngest being 17 and the oldest about 19 years of age. Owing to the enthusiasm of the members of the company they travel with three matrons and two chaperons. They are all enthusiastic and will undoubtedly give a pleasing concert.

GOOD PROGRAM AT CITY SWIMMING POOL

The program at the municipal swimming pool provided a great deal of interest both to the participants in the races and to the large crowd of spectators gathered there yesterday. At the close of the events, the winners in the races were presented their prizes by Mayor Parry D. Thompson. There were demonstrations of rescue work of Officer Ryne as well as various swimming strokes. He also swam 100 yards to the raft, with his hands and feet tied. The rescuing feature was perhaps the greatest attraction, when he swam to the aid of the supposed drowning man. The "victim," a fellow of 245 pounds by the name of Bolser, lay in an "almost" unconscious position near the bank, while his rescuer dove in from the bank and taking hold of his man brought him with almost unbelievable speed to the shore, where the laughing audience greeted him. After this there was a demonstration of artificial respiration, which proved instructive and interesting.

John Quill exhibited fancy diving. The dives included the "cannon-ball," the "angel," the "swallow," the "sitting-standing," and the backward somersault.

The program of races, the winners and their time were as follows:

200 yard swim, open to residents of Lowell: Walter Bourque first; time 3:10; William Lyness, second.

50 yard swim for girls over 14: Eglantine Morin, first; (2:06.) Edith Hall, second.

50 yard swim for boys under 14: Andrew Molloy, first (37 seconds); Walter McVicker, second.

50 yard swim for girls under 14: Jeannette Dumas, first (22½ seconds); Anna Hall, second.

25 yard swim for boys under 12: Paul Farrell, first (25 seconds); Frank Barrett, second.

100 yard swim, open to residents of Lowell: William Lyness, first, (1:50); Walter Bourque, second.

Relay race: 200 yards between teams representing Centralville and Pawtucketville, won by the latter named, composed of William Lyness, Edward Sheldon, Walter Bourque and Frank Sawyer. Time: 1:61.

50 yard swim for boys under 14: Walter McVicker, first (46 seconds); Christopher Maio, second; Wilfred Lemmillo, third.

The judges were Daniel Quill, John Murray and Andrew Molloy. Timers: Paul Hamel, Edward Barrett. Announcer, John Quill. Starter, Matthew McCann.

Use Resinol

first for skin troubles

Delay in the proper treatment of skin troubles is dangerous. Every day spent in trying unproved remedies may only let the disorder spread and become more and more deeply seated. The value of Resinol Ointment is known. For over twenty years it has been used as a soothing, healing remedy for the skin.

If applied in time, it usually checks the itching and reduces the eruption right away. But even in stubborn, long-standing cases, it is surprising, how quickly this gentle, yet effective ointment brings results.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment. Men with leaders face find the touch of Resinol Ointment. It is the only skin medicine that is so gentle.

BRITISH SUBJECTS MAY ENLIST UP TO OCT. 12

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Provost Marshal-General Crowder announced yesterday that he had been requested by the British embassy to give notice of the fact that British subjects, including declarants, who registered before July 30, may enlist voluntarily in the British or Canadian army up to and including Sept. 28. Those who registered on Aug. 24 may enlist until Sept. 28, and those who register on Sept. 12 may enlist up to October 12. General Crowder called attention to the fact that during the period allowed for voluntary enlistment British subjects may apply for exemption to the British ambassador at the end of the period. However, British subjects in each of these classes may no longer enlist in the British or Canadian army, but unless exempted by the British ambassador, become liable to military service and may claim exemption under the United States selective service law.

ANOTHER VICTORY OVER BOLSHEVIK FORCES

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The entente allied troops aided by Russian forces on Aug. 31 captured the enemy's positions north of Oboberskaya, 75 miles south of Archangel, according to an official report issued today by the British war office. The captured position was consolidated and a subsequent enemy counter attack was repulsed with heavy losses.

The allied troops are pushing on to Oboberskaya. The guns of the allied armored train were effective in the fighting.

Leaving Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Safe conduct for passage through Finland has been granted to citizens of allied countries seeking to leave Russia, the position authorities declaring the policy of the Finnish government having made no objection to the arrangement.

Special trains will be provided for the refugees who include some 100 Americans, to carry them through Finland to the nearest Swedish port to embark for their homes.

WOMEN VOTE IN NEW YORK PRIMARIES

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—For the first time in the history of New York state, women today participated in the primary election for candidates for nomination to state, congressional, legislative and judicial offices.

Governor Charles S. Whitman who is seeking the republican nomination for a third term was opposed by Attorney General Merton E. Lewis.

On the democratic side the only contest was for the gubernatorial nomination, Alfred D. Smith, president of the board of aldermen of New York city and a former speaker of the assembly, who was the choice of the woodruff party convention at Saratoga, being opposed by William Church Osborn of Putnam.

GERMAN ATTEMPT TO MAKE PEACE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3.—Nyadgigt Allhandu quotes Pieter Jelles Troelstra, the Dutch socialist leader, as saying in an interview at Lucerne that an attempt was made last January by the leaders of the three parties constituting the German reichstag majority to reach an agreement with the political pacifist leaders of England with the view to prepare the way for energetic action in favor of peace on the principles enunciated by President Wilson.

CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH

There were patriotic services observed yesterday morning at the Centralville M. E. church. There have been some recent additions to the number of stars on the service flag, and it was unveiled and the honor roll with 23 names of the young men gone from this church was exhibited for the first time. The names of the enlisted men were read aloud and they are as follows:

In the army—Lieut. Andrew G. Jenkins, Lieut. Charles Case, Lieut. Hugo Markland, Walter F. Coburn, Frank W. Callahan, Derry W. F. Dow, Charles B. Garmon, Reginald B. Nichols, Geo. H. McElroy, Steven Glen Wotton, Charles Crub, Harold Worth, Edward Lempe, Frederick Dolliver. In the navy—Ensign George B. Garmon, Fred S. Currie, Isaac Rex Wotton, Joseph P. Garmon, Stanley Worth, Carl Lunan, Andrew F. Swapp. Canadiana forces—William Chester Douglas, William Swift. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of the church were present in a body. Friday evening a number of the congregation representing the Epworth league are planning an auto trip to Camp Devens, where they will provide entertainment at the Chris-

EXPECT BIG VOTE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 3.—A recent primary vote was expected to be cast in New Hampshire today as the voters went to the polls to select candidates for United States senator to succeed Senator Henry F. Hollis, Democrat, who will retire in March. There were three aspirants for the Republican nomination, Governor Henry W. Keyes, former Governor Rolland H. Spaulding and Rosecrans W. Pillsbury. All had active workers at the polls following campaigns in which every part of the state was covered.

On the Democratic side there was also a contest. Eugene E. Reed, former congressman and until recently occupant of an important government post in the Philippines, and Albert W. Nourse, a manufacturer, sought the honor of leading their party in November.

Men in close touch with state politics looked for a close vote and declined to hazard a prediction. The candidates and their supporters were all confident of victory. On the Republican side the situation was considered generally uncertain, due to complications arising as a result of the recent death of Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, Republican. George H. Moses, Republican leader for many years, was originally a candidate with Keyes. Spaulding and Pillsbury, but withdrew and announced he would seek the short term nomination to succeed Senator Gallinger. The candidate for this place will be named by the Republicans in convention. It was expected that the man running second in today's contest would be a contestant with Moses before the convention.

A GREAT VICTORY

Sensational Breaking of Dro- court-Queant Switch Line Important for Allies

Regarded as One of Worst Disasters Inflicted Upon Germans in War

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The sensational breaking of the famous Drocourt-Queant switch line after a series of important allied advances with great captures of men and material has made an immense impression here. While too great confidence that the success can be maintained is deprecated and while the expectation is general that the enemy will make the most desperate efforts to recover the position, the blow is regarded as one of the worst disasters inflicted upon the Germans during the whole war and one which must cause their high command the deepest anxiety.

The belief is general that the switch line is the main system of German defense and that there is nothing so strong behind it. Consequently its loss, if it becomes final, opens the widest possibilities.

"Its loss would involve the evacuation of the French coal fields, perhaps even of the Flanders coast," says the Mail, "and would imperil the German hold on Douai, Valenciennes and Cambrai, which are essential to Hindenburg for maneuvering his armies. The switch line is thus the pivot of the whole German front and its breach means that they have forced the enemy to a struggle of man against man which he had used all of his ingenuity to avoid."

The Telegraph, also noting the danger to the important German centers of communication, says: "If the Germans cannot stand before Douai, Cambrai and St. Quentin, they can stand nowhere else, and the German front, if it is possible for them to fight harder and throw in reserves at a swifter rate than they have done in the last few days, they will do so. We doubt the possibility of their accomplishing either."

Other commentators remark that the Germans now pretend that they are retreating according to plan and are convinced that the retirement will be compulsorily carried much further than they ever intended.

ELECTRIC CAR HITS AUTO

Three Men Injured in Pelham Yesterday Were Removed to St. John's Hospital

A serious collision occurred yesterday afternoon between a Lowell bound car of the Massachusetts North-eastern Street Railway Co. and an auto truck owned by Stanley Plachna of Lowell. The accident occurred at the Joseph Smith residence in Pelham just as the truck was leaving the latter's yard. There were five persons in the truck, three of whom were so badly injured that they were ordered removed to St. John's hospital by Dr. H. O. Smith who was called to the scene of the accident.

The men who were injured had been employed on a wood lot at Mr. Smith's and were just leaving for home when the accident occurred. The electric could not be seen by the men in the automobile on account of the intervening buildings and Mr. Plachna drove directly onto the track in the front of the oncoming trolley. Motorman Joseph Marshall and Conductor Chester did all in their power to stop their car, but all to no avail and the electric crashed into the auto, dragging it several rods before it could be stopped.

The names of the injured men are Simon Foras, John Foras, Kuzak and Victor Schmidtaner. Stanley Plachna was slightly injured. Simon Foras who received the worst injuries was delirious for many hours after being taken to the hospital but today he was reported as resting more comfortably. However, the extent of his injuries has not yet been determined and he is under close observation by the doctors. He is about 40 years of age. John Foras sustained a fractured arm and hand cuts about the back and elbow. Kuzak, 38 years old, received cuts on the back and other minor injuries. The other two men are in a very comfortable condition and their injuries are thought to be of a minor nature.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH AND AMERICANS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, Sept. 2 (By the Associated Press).—Localization in the activity of the infantry in the last two days has given the appearance of the relinquishment of the pressure on the flying German lines from the Somme to Soissons. The altered face of the battle is due to changes in the conditions of the ground and tactics, and though the fighting has been confined to comparatively short sectors north of Soissons, north of Noyon and around Nesle, engagements of the utmost importance have been in progress in which the allies have gained advantages that explain the enormous sacrifices the Germans made to hold them off at those points.

North of Soissons, General Mangin's forces after three days of furious combats in which positions were taken and retaken several times, have pushed forward on the plateau that overlooks the valley of the Ailette behind Chemin-de-Dames and from where the citadel of Laon, one of the stoutest pillars in the German secondary line of defense, may plainly be seen.

The French and Americans met around Juvinig the elite of the German army. Grenadiers of the Prussian Guard, picked storming battalions and hardy mountain infantrymen. They defeated them decisively, taking an enormous death tolls from their ranks and sending a large number of captives to the rear. The Associated Press correspondent saw a column of these prisoners filing back over the plateau to the west where white wood crosses over fresh graves marked the scene of recent defeats. Some were young but all were sturdy and humiliation and depression showed in their faces rather than the satisfaction exhibited by other prisoners over their final release from the inferno of war.

One Kills 200 Germans

The Americans co-operated in the attack on Juvinig with the type of tanks which the French have named "Chars d'assault" or shock cars. These engines of war have been called "armored infantry." They have all the suppleness of troops afoot with gruesome profusion from their quick fire and cannon. One of these cars manned by a French Lieutenant killed 200 Germans before Juvinig.

"It's good to see how these American fight," a tank pilot said to the correspondent. "We are glad to fight with them. Together we will get the Germans."

Severe fighting has been going on north of Noyon, along the Meuse river and the Canal du Nord and around Nesle. After forcing the last fortified centers of resistance around Roye and Chaulnes, the French arrived at these points, confronting natural obstacles which the Germans utilized to best advantage.

The course of the Somme and the canal running parallel before the front east of Nesle offered a double water line with marshy ground between. Forging there was so difficult that the roads were used, and the Germans concentrated artillery and machine gun fire on all the roads, bridges and approaches.

A well sustained fire of concealed infantry, supplemented by frequent counter attacks, made crossings extremely hazardous. But the French succeeded in forcing a crossing between Quilquary and Rouley-le-Petit at 6 o'clock last evening, slipping through the enemy's advanced positions to the edge of the plateau extending toward Ham and were attacking Hill 77 at last accounts.

MR. GOMPERS' MISSION

Today Samuel Gompers, the great labor leader, is being honored in England as head of a labor mission sent from this country for the purpose of unifying the aims of labor so far as possible in all the allied countries.

President Gompers has always been a safe and clear-headed leader. He has never fallen a victim to the wiles of socialism and today, while he works hand in hand with President Wilson for a complete victory over Germany, he appeals to the laboring classes throughout the allied nations to stand loyally by the armies now fighting the battles of universal freedom against the ambition of the German militarists to dominate the world.

In deference to Mr. Gompers, the work or fight clause was eliminated from the new draft law, lest it should be said that labor was unwilling to do its full duty in the war without being conscripted. Thus far in the war, the laboring masses have done splendidly by the government. Without their co-operation the war cannot be successfully maintained whereas the aim now is to go in and end it as soon as possible.

Mr. Gompers has been highly honored in London as the representative of the United States and the head of the great Federation of Labor. In responding to the compliments paid him by Premier Lloyd George and other British officials, he said he "accepted the high ideals of President Wilson as to the allied aims in the war and the necessity of prosecuting it to a triumphant conclusion. American labor found it impossible to live in a nation dominated by Kaiserism and militarism. We dare not lose, we cannot lose, we must win."

It is well that the laborer has a champion who can so clearly set aside what is dangerous, however catchy or plausible it might be, and who can guide the legion of followers along the paths that lead to the highest freedom to be found on this earth, a freedom governed by law with due respect for justice and the rights of all classes. If Mr. Gompers can bring the laborers of England, France and Italy to accept his views as to the outcome of the war, he will have accomplished an important point for their final emancipation.

It is hoped also, that the laborers of Germany and Austria may have an opportunity to learn something of what he has to say in regard to the principles of justice and human freedom involved in the war.

LABOR DAY

The observance of Labor Day in this city was a great demonstration of patriotism. In no other city perhaps could a labor parade more convincingly portray the very important part that labor plays in maintaining our armies at the front. In yesterday's parade were thousands of the men who manufacture the ammunition used by our soldiers in France, other thousands who turn out the various fabrics required in the army and navy, while the patriotic features were designed to illustrate the intense loyalty of the paraders as a whole, and to show to what an extent the military forces of the nation must depend for sustenance upon the support of labor in the various essential industries.

The turnout was splendid in every particular, and in size and appearance it was undoubtedly the best ever seen here. It was highly creditable to the organizations in line and the committees in charge. Well may it be said with President Wilson that "the army of labor at home is as important, as essential, as the army of fighting men in the far fields of actual battle, and that we realize as never before that we are comrades dependent upon one another, irremediably when united, powerless when divided. And so we join hands to lead the world to a new and better day."

I. W. W. CONVICTIONS

At last the I. W. W. leaders seem to have come to their own. Haywood and his large corps of organizers and lieutenants have been sentenced to long terms in a federal prison on various charges of conspiracy against the government of the United States, against the prosecution of the war and in direct opposition to the draft.

Judge Landis in reviewing the testimony, found abundant proof of the charges and made a statement that should be a warning to others who may have any disposition to adopt the principles or policies of the I. W. W. It was this:

"In times of peace you have a legal right to oppose, by free speech, preparations for war. But when war has been declared that right ceases forthwith."

There are a great many people other than the I. W. W. who do not realize this fact and who have talked very wildly at times; but the Chicago trial will offer a valuable lesson to all who might be disposed to offend in this direction. It is gratifying to know that the death knell of the I. W. W. has been sounded in this country and that no longer will professional revolutionists be allowed to go about, organizing their followers for the commission of crimes against the government, their ultimate aim being to overthrow the constitution of the United States and establish a reign of anarchy. The Chicago court does an excellent piece of work.

LOWELL WAS LOYAL

So far as Lowell is concerned, the request for the saving of gasoline was very faithfully carried out. Not for many years have the streets of our city been so deserted by automobile traffic as on Sunday. The people in general gave a splendid demonstration of their readiness to forego the customary Sunday pleasures in order to aid the fuel administration in providing the necessary gasoline for war purposes on sea as well as on the battle front in France. It must certainly be very encouraging to the men who are conducting the war to find such a spirit of loyalty and co-operation everywhere throughout the land. The men at Washington could accomplish nothing if the people did not stand loyally by them in every emergency. When their mere request is obeyed quite as well as if it were law with a heavy penalty attached, then the people are showing the spirit that will soon succeed in bringing about a great triumph over Germany.

LONDON POLICE STRIKE

With a "work or fight" law in London, the metropolitan police who have been on strike would be drafted for service in the army. There is little doubt that the claims of the police are justified as their pay is but 38 shillings a week with 12 shillings bonus which is apparently contingent. But assuming that the full bonus is received, the total would amount only to $12.50 in our money. That amount would go but a short way towards supporting a man in this country, and while prices are not so high in England as here, still they are as high that the pittance of $12.50 per week must be wholly inadequate for the decent support of a man, much less of a whole family.

It seems that Gov. Keyes of New Hampshire has now announced that he may not appoint a successor for the late Senator J. H. Callinger. Gov. Keyes gives as his reason that he does not see any great necessity for a successor for a term that will be merely two months long, as New Hampshire must elect two new senators in November. Sen. Hollis of New Hampshire is now in Europe so for the next two months New Hampshire will have practically no senatorial representation at Washington. Well, if Gov. Keyes wants to run his state that way in war time, let him. A good many states wouldn't care to be run that way.

It has never seemed to us that the legislators and the citizens at large have ever gone at this "raise more sheep" problem from the primary angle. It would seem as if one of the first things to do in any community where it was proposed to introduce sheep raising on a large scale, would be to first reduce a large part of the dog population. It is true that the dog is called one of man's best friends but we know certain kinds of dog that are replicas of the proverbial poor and lazy relative in a family.

The U. S. treasury is now busy printing Liberty bonds enough to be sold in the forthcoming Liberty loan campaign, so that one-third of all the people in this country could each buy a bond if they wanted to. There will be 35 million bonds, in other words. If owning a bond puts one in a select and aristocratic class, here surely is a time approaching when it will be easy and profitable to secure your bond and get into this class. But to look on Liberty bond holders as a class of patriots is, to our mind, a far better designation.

If there are any of us among the so-called plutocratic class who are inclined to grumble over what the government levies on us by way of income and other taxes, let us not forget, while we are enveloped in the fog of our own selfishness, that President Wilson himself has to kick in $24,000 a year as tax on his salary, and if he has grumbled about it, the fact hasn't gotten outside the White House. With a salary of $75,000 and $25,000 for traveling expenses, the president can well afford this tax.

If you earned a silver or a paper dollar in 1913 and you decided to put it away and not use it until the year 1918, although you may have had no way of knowing it at the time, you were using what Irvin Cobb calls "rotten judgment." Taking that silver or paper dollar from its hiding place, granted that mice did not gnaw the paper dollar to pieces, you would now find you could only buy 54 cents worth of as much food or other merchandise with the dollar as in 1913.

The smile in the news yesterday was a description of the trouble in New York where the barbers went on strike for the second time in one week. The cause of the second strike, so the story said, was because the master barbers put signs up in the different shops calling attention to the fact that no customer need feel under obligation to let the workman shave him or cut his hair. The signs were in large letters and too conspicuous to suit the barbers!

They claim that Buffalo folks refused to stand for the 6-cent trolley fare the city's pin-headed city government voted on to the citizens, mostly because the citizens over in that city claim the Buffalo nickel as peculiarly their own and they did not believe they should go back on this nickel to the extent of saying it wasn't enough to procure a ride on their street cars. An odd explanation, surely.

If it needs the same measures and costs as much to correct each of whatever other bad habits Max Levine of Quincy has, as in the case of the Quincy police court judge making him pay $25 for using an American flag as a kerchief, we believe it will certainly profit Max to get more familiar with American customs and possibly buy a 25 cent book on correct deportment.

The Morning Nap

Now the morning light is breaking and the sun will soon appear. And I turn, and in my pillow bury deep the other ear.

For the loveliest time for snoozing, preceded with shuttled eyes, is this time when you're expected, willy-nilly to arise.

Flat Tires

Going home on the car the other night I was alone. Each had the evening paper, and each were reading the war news on the front page. One of them was one of those rasbros who read it out loud to you when you're reading the same stuff. This gink was doing that stunt all the way out. Just when the other two would get started reading, this hard-boiled egg would open up with the chin goods calling their attention to the same article they were Trying to read, and they didn't hit him because they knew he would be getting off before they did, so they fouled up their papers and let him jaw on till he came to his stop, then they heaved a mental sigh, and opened up their papers and read the war news in ease. And we ask you, is that just as bad, or worse, than the peanut who throws a wad of chewing gum on the sidewalk, and you drag it home on your shoe?

She Was Innocent

Her name was Sister Billy and she had two big sisters whose habit was to have beaux on Sunday afternoons. Some of the beaux seemed to seek the approval of Sister Billy and would converse with her affably during their visits. No one's feelings were hurt. Billy was only 1. One day her sisters watched her strolling in the garden with a young man. They seemed absorbed in each other, but Billy was doing all the talking. They watched the pair for several minutes, and in all that time the young man did not speak, nor did he for one second change his attitude of eager attention. Both sisters were dying with curiosity. They wondered nervously what secret the little lamb could be disclosing. As soon as the door had closed on Mr. Brown, Sister Billy was fixed with four stern eyes.

"What were you saying to Mr. Brown?" they asked. Sister Billy's eyes dropped and she faltered:

"I was saying the Lord's Prayer to him."—Chicago Herald.

Polycodde's Inventions

Nathaniel Polycodde, the famous inventor, sat in his study listening to the duck falling and turning over in his mind the various inventions which had made him what he was. One by one he reviewed his offerings to humanity—the collapsible cuckoo clock, the jumping cucumber, the reversible undershirt and other labor saving devices. Then his masterly intellect turned itself upon the intricacies of his next offering, designed especially for the boys in the trenches—the marvelous combination periscope, which at a moment's notice could be turned into a roasting fork or a sandwich.

Suddenly a shrill scream rent the air.

Nathaniel Polycodde sprang to his feet, tugging at the felloek of his distinguished brow. Into the study burst Marcella Polycodde, presenting a moving spectacle of excitement.

"Nathaniel," she moaned, "all is lost! The fire is out! What shall I do?"

But the great inventor was a man of true grandeur.

"Marcella," he rejoined, "it is in these terrible crises that our keenest faculties are aroused. The fire is out, you say? Then I will invent a way to light it."

Marcella moaned again. Her distress was terrible.

"But the coal is out also," she sobbed.

Nathaniel Polycodde was annoyed. "This is not clever, Marcella," he said. "If there is no coal I cannot invent a way to build the fire. You must obtain some coal."

"But how, Nathaniel?" wailed Marcella.

"Mr. Gardol has dictated away all the coal, and the children have croup."

"That I cannot answer," said Nathaniel. "Please leave me to my meditations, Marcella."

Several hours later Marcella hurried to her spouse.

"Nathaniel," she cried, "I have thought of a way to save us. I will burn the Congressional Records and the back numbers of the Spout Magazine!"

But her husband only gazed raptly at a small object in his hand.

"Marcella!" he cried, "how fortunate are my misfortunes! I have just perfected an invention which will be of infinite use this year—besides making our fortune. In my hand I hold the new extension grapefruit shield. It prevents the juice from squirting in one's eye!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Bear to Boot

It is very probable that Costello Robinson, who lives in the backwoods township of Albany, N. H., is the only man who hunts bears by kicking them. He was recently on his way to work on the road that leads to Gumm's quarry and happened to have a rifle with him. Suddenly he came on two half-grown black bear cubs. Up went his rifle, and one cub fell dead, the other took speedily to a tree. It came over Costello that the other cub would be worth more to him alive than dead, and he began to shout lustily for assistance.

His cries reached the ears of Orrin Tyler, on whose land the bears were trespassing, and he hurried to the spot.

"What're ye take for, am Orrin, jest as they be?" asked Costello.

"O, they're worth ten dollars, I guess," replied the farmer.

Meantime the bear thought it was time to make his escape, and he began to back down the tree.

"Look out, Costello, or ye'll lose him!" cried Orrin.

"Not much, I won't!" cried Robinson, and as the bear neared the ground, growing menacingly, Costello drew back and with a powerful swing landed a kick where a kick would naturally terminate in such a case. With a scream of outraged dignity and pain, the bear shot back up the tree. Orrin started up after him, but the bear managed to keep on the opposite side of the big pine trunk, and when Orrin was well up among the branches the bear scrambled rapidly down the trunk again.

Costello was right on the spot, however, and ready with his powerful boot.

That treatment he administered on seven different occasions, and each time the bear went whimpering back into the tree. Finally the men understood that they must have a rope in order to make any progress.

"You go get one, Orrin," said Costello.

"I'll see that he doesn't get away."

"If, yes; but I guess I'd better have my money fast," said Orrin.

Costello agreed, and redoubled his guard lest both bear and cash should be lost. The bear tried again and again to escape; he circled, he slid he dropped from limb to limb, but he always found Costello ready with his relentless boot, until, too sore to relish any more of that game, he perched on a branch and awaited his fate. The mother bear, if there was one in the neighborhood, did not appear, and when Orrin, accompanied by Elijah Mason, came back with a rope, the three men lassoed the bear and lowered it to the ground, a biting snarling tangle of fury, disgust and entire loss of self-respect.

Costello collected the $5 state bounty on the dead bear and sold the live one for $15—Youth's Companion.

BIG MASS MEETING ON SOUTH COMMON

A patriotic mass meeting held on the common last evening and arranged as a fitting close for the holiday was attended by several thousands of the friends of labor in this city. Commissioner Frank A. Warnock was the presiding officer and the list of speakers included Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Daniel J. Donahue, and Rev. N. W. Matthews. The Lowell Military band provided music suitable to the occasion.

Precious to the presentation of the speakers, Commissioner Warnock, in behalf of the members of the band and several friends, presented Conductor Oswald Bamber a beautiful baton. With the gift went the sincerest wishes of the givers for a successful future for the popular conductor.

After the national hymn had been rendered by the entire assemblage, Commissioner Warnock spoke briefly on the significance of the day to the millions of laborers throughout the country. He emphasized the fact that in this present struggle labor is playing an all important part in the carrying on of the war by the champions of democracy. "It is as important," said he, "that we do our bit over here, as it is for the boys in the front line trenches. Labor has never been found wanting when a call for a just cause has been made, and you can rest assured that labor is doing and will continue to do more than her full share in the present conflict."

After Thompson also dwelt on the fact that labor has always been an important factor when a country is in the throes of a life and death struggle such as the present war. He pointed out that there is something for everyone to do and we all should consider it our solemn duty to carry it through as best we can. "The boys over there are willingly sacrificing their all for us, and in return we should be anxious to make their path as easy as possible," the mayor said.

Rev. N. W. Matthews gave a very interesting talk and he was followed by

D. J. Donahue, who spoke in part as follows.

"Who gives the best that is in him for his country's sake is the best patriot, whether his sacrifice be made on the field of battle, or his services be given in the shop.

"Not every man may face the hazard of the field; war is as choice as it is relentless in its demands; and only the young, the brave, the fair, the physically sound, are chosen to meet the country's enemies in battle, for only such can meet the perils of the onslaught, the weariness of the march, the dirt and disease of camp and trench, the sleepless toil of the night, the rigors and inclemencies of climate and the season's change.

"The soldier is the fighting front of our country's armies, the apex of the phalanx, the first wave of the onrushing stream that strikes the turbines of war, the initial force that hits the bloody wheels that wave the fabric of victory for the country and disaster for the foe.

"The soldier is the hammer that strikes the blow; but the power behind that gives it force and effect—the energy that guides and sustains the hammer, is labor.

"If we have learned any lesson from Armageddon it is this—That nations are powerful in war only in proportion to the volume and effectiveness of the industrial organization back of its armies and navies; and these are potent or powerless, as labor is patriotic or perfidious.

"The blows of battle will be struck on the blood fields of Europe; but the victory will all so ardently desire will be organized and won in the farms and forests, the mills and mines, the shops and shipyards of America; for as surely as the service and sacrifice of Pershing and his men spell defeat for the insolent soldiery of Germany, the sweat and toil of organized and unselfish labor means victory for America and permanent peace for our people.

"In such an hour as this in this greatest peril and trial of our history, American labor takes on a newer dignity, a nobler responsibility, its services assume a greater and more splendid significance, for in its industry, efficiency and constancy lie the safety and permanency of democratic liberty, human happiness and peace and the well-being of the world.

"The world has always known the value and importance of labor though it has stubbornly refused to give it the recognition its work has deserved. As the foundation, the conservator and moving force of our civilization, Rome, the mother of our modern civilization, knew the value of labor when the old Roman writer said: 'Labor omnia vincit,' labor conquers all.

"American labor has reason to be proud of the service it is giving to the country in this war, even as America is proud of the patriotic man and woman who put all self aside to contribute their skill and energy to the common cause. It has been well said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where one only grew before is a friend of his race; and it can be said with equal truth that he who makes the soil yield two bushels of food where only one was harvested before, who doubles the product of his loom, who multiplies the output of the mine and the machine, who adds to the tonnage of our ships and the freight of our rails, who puts his soul into his work and his sweat into the cause of his country—that man, that woman, that girl is a patriot and a lover of humanity.

"You have demonstrated your patriotism by your sweat; your industry and devotion to your country in days of war. Let your patriotism be as sincere and pure in the days of peace and let it be exhibited by industry, fair-play, fidelity to principle, to manhood and honor and by that firm adhesion to the self-respect and respect for all that constitutes the highest type of Americanism. Be true to yourself and to your country; be just and fear not

WEEPING ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times. I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief. Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tives', and am entirely well!"

G. W. HALL.

Both these remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent by FRUIT-A-TIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N.Y.

"Fruit-a-tives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

and the new age will be the age of labor and true democracy. "All hail, then, to labor, for our common country let us honor worth, let us dry the mourner's tear, let us recall the smile to the pallid lip, let us cheer the aching heart, let us raise aloft the symbol of our country in God's name and know the Stars and Stripes shall wave o'er a free and chastened world."

LINEN SHOWER

A linen shower was tendered by the Bachelor Girls Friday evening to Miss Mary Gallagher at her home, 15 Fisher street. During the evening the president of the club in behalf of the club members, presented Miss Gallagher a beautiful statue. The bride-to-be responded in a fitting manner. Also the same evening Miss Julia Bolan, the vice president of the club, who is to become the bride of Mr. Patrick McDermott, was presented a beautiful pedestal. The party broke up at a late hour all wishing both brides-to-be much good luck and happiness.

It is stated that every piece of anti-aircraft machinery used to repel German air raids over England has been made by British women.

AMERICAN SHIP SUNK

Onega Torpedoed—26 of Crew Missing—Many Bodies Washed Ashore

A BRITISH PORT, Sept. 3.—The American steamship Onega has been torpedoed. The vessel foundered Friday night. Twenty-nine persons were saved. Twenty-six are missing.

Many bodies have been washed ashore. The captain of the Onega was drowned. His body has been landed.

The Onega was 3636 tons gross and was built at Belfast in 1880. She was owned by Barber & Co. of New York. The vessel was 400 feet long, 39 feet beam and 21 feet deep. The Onega was formerly the S. V. Luckenbach and before that was known under the names of Brooklyn, MacPherson, Odum and British Queen.

THE IDEAL WIFE

One of the most successful men of this country recently wrote: "Whatever I am, and whatever success I have attained, I owe it all to my wife. She has ever been an inspiration, and the greatest helpmate of my life." To be such a successful wife should be the ambition of every woman, but how impossible when dragged down by headaches, backache, dragging-down pains, nervousness and "the blues." Every woman in this condition should start at once to build up her system by a tonic of specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for three generations has been restoring American women to health and consequent happiness.—Adv.

JAPANESE RADICALS IN PROTEST AGAINST RICE PROFITEERS

This meeting of young Japanese radicals, now reported to be making political capital of the acute rice situation, took place in Tokyo but a short time before the violent protests throughout the Empire against the government's food policies and profiteering manipulators of grain. Meetings of this kind are cited as showing that the food protests were grounded in widespread organization, and that food rioting is but one phase of social and political ferment in the Land of the Rising Sun.

128,302 HUNS CAPTURED

—2069 Guns and 43,783

Machine Guns Taken

PARIS, Sept. 3.—The allied forces on the western front have taken a total of 128,302 prisoners since July 15. It was announced in an official statement yesterday. In the same period 2069 guns, 1734 mine throwers and 12,783 machine guns were captured. The official announcement reads:

"In the course of their offensive from July to Aug. 31 the armies of the allies have taken 128,302 prisoners, including 2674 officers, and have captured 2069 guns, 1734 mine-throwers, 12,783 machine guns and a considerable quantity of munitions, supplies and materials of all kinds."

On the French front 75,960 prisoners and 700 guns had been captured by the French since July 15, it was announced yesterday.

BIG GASTON RALLY

Several hundred voters attended the open air rally, which was held at city hall Saturday evening in the advancement of the candidacy of Col. Gaston, democratic candidate for governor. The rally was presided over by Thos. J. Fitzgerald and the speakers were Hon. Frederick W. Mansfield of Boston, Edward Donovan, formerly of Boston and now of Lowell and Hon. David B. Shaw of Boston.

Little Carl Saffstrom, one of the youngest gardeners in Worcester county, has a blue ribbon display at the Worcester County Horticultural society's children's exhibit in Horticultural hall. Although Carl is only 6, he has been exhibiting his garden products and winning prizes for three years.

NEW CANNING RECORD

All Signs Point Now to the Success of the Big National Campaign

WASHINGTON.—The home canning army is going over the top! Every indication points to making the 1,600,000,000 quart goal set for this summer's objective.

Reports from the manufacturers of canning supplies who are conforming to recommendations of the United States department of agriculture, show a considerable increase in the output of equipment that saves time and labor in home canning. A 50 per cent increase is indicated this year in the number of firms that manufacture canning supplies and an average increase of 25 per cent in the quantity of equipment sold. Makers of standard quality rubber rings report a 300 per cent greater demand for their products since last year which indicates the housekeepers' growing appreciation of the importance of good rings, and means an ultimate reduction in spoilage.

Over 125 business concerns of various kinds have published the department of agriculture's instructions on home canning for free distribution to their customers and employees. The directions have also been translated into 10 different languages by agencies outside the department and are reaching the foreign-speaking families in nearly every state in the union. Community canning kitchens are springing up rapidly to handle the large quantities of products from the war gardens.

"HE'S OUT!"

FRED MERKLE

GOAT OR STAR?

King of Baseball Goats in Big Series—Will Merkle Shine or Fluke?

The most unlucky money player in baseball will again be seen in a world series this fall.

For the third time in his stormy baseball career Fred Merkle will hear the plaudits or denunciations of thousands of rabid fans.

Merkle is the goat of goats of baseball. As long as the game is played—says, as long as its traditions linger, his honor of 1908 and his error of omission in 1912 will remain, along with Heinie Zimmerman's famous dash for home, as the classics of baseball ivoryisms.

Ordinarily Merkle is a good ball player, a great first baseman, a hard, clean hitter. Whether the jinx of Merkle as a money player will return this year remains to be seen.

Merkle's two errors were the most costly in baseball history. The first kept the Giants out of the world series—the second lost a world series for the same club. The first cost each and every Giant approximately $1000 and the club owners the difference between the winner's and loser's split in the eight-game series of 1912.

It is 10 years since Merkle butted his way into the hall of fame of goat-dom.

Late in the season of 1908 the Cubs and Giants were battling their way neck and neck pennantward. Two were out in the ninth inning. The score was tied. McCormick occupied third base and Merkle first. Bridwell drove the ball safely into the outfield and the crowds surged across the field as McCormick crossed the plate. Merkle ran toward second, stopped and went to the clubhouse. Johnny Evers noticed the omission and shouted to an outfielder, some say it was Schulte, some Hoffman, to toss him the ball. He called to an umpire and touched the base with the ball. The umpire declared Merkle forced for the final out, invalidating McCormick's run.

The tie game was replayed, later and the Cubs won, clinching the pennant.

Four years later the Giants and Red Sox met in a world series. The series went eight games. Each club had won three games, each had been tied. The Giants took the lead in the tenth inning with Matthewson pitching masterful ball. Speaker was at bat. He lifted a high foul down the first base line. Merkle watched the ball arc into the sky but made no effort to get it. Too late Chief Myers lumbered after the ball, which dropped in front of him. Speaker then singled, scoring a runner who tied the score and Boston eventually won the game.

Merkle has had no chance in a world series to expiate these baseball omissions. True, he started in the 1913 series, but sprained his ankle so badly in the first game that he was practically useless the rest of the series, although he played parts of games and displayed great gameness.

This year Merkle will have his chance.

THIS PRETTY SERGEANT TAMES 'EM ALL

(By Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 3.—The police station at River Forest, one of the most exclusive residential sections of suburban Chicago, would not have been different from any other station in a small village until—

A pretty blonde of 19 summers and a "million dollar" smile was made a full-fledged police sergeant.

Sergeant Viola Lorenzen had been telephone operator at the station, but she wanted to do more in the way of doing her bit "over here" while the boys were "over there" and her appointment followed.

Chief of Police R. C. Goss says she is a wonderful officer and has tamed many a rough character in the station and the absence of profane language is getting quite noticeable.

But—Who could get rough when he was before a desk sergeant such as Miss Lorenzen? Why would you forget what you were brought in for.

ACCIDENT BOARD WANTS

FURTHER PROOF

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Sept. 3.—The Industrial Accident Board today decided that it must have further proof that Richard Cosgrove of Lowell cannot work before it will allow him continuance of compensation for a fractured leg, suffered by falling from a pole while employed by the Lowell Electric Light company in January, 1917. Payments of $10 a week were stopped June 26 last.

Several jobs were offered Cosgrove of late but he has declined to accept them. His claim is that they are not suitable to a man in his physical condition. One was in the shop of the Lamson Store Service company. I was told that it was a sitting down job," said Cosgrove, "but when I got there the foreman told me it was a sitting down job at times and at other times it wasn't. He himself said it wasn't a job for me."

Offered a place at the Bleachery, Cosgrove asserted it would take him several hours each day in reaching the shop. Asked if he could take the trolley cars, he reminded the board that even at that he would have to walk no considerable distance. "I would be glad to take any job if I could get back and forth to it," he added.

"My leg is in pain all the time," he said. "If I go down the street I have to stop now and then for a rest. And if I were not for the banisters it would be difficult for me to go up and down stairs." He contended that at the present time he is in no condition to work.

Dr. Robert G. McCullough of Providence, the family physician, testified that Cosgrove would be a cripple always and that it will be a long time before he will be able to use his leg. "Perhaps some time it will adjust itself so that he can get around fairly well but it will take a long time—two or three years," said the doctor. "If he had a position where he could sit at a desk and use his hands and head, and could be taken back and forth to work, he could do it. If a long walk were involved he could not go back and forth; if it were a short walk, he could. He will have difficulty in climbing stairs and will always have to drag that leg behind."

Commissioner Boyle in his decision says: "I am not satisfied, upon all the evidence, that the employee has made a reasonable effort to perform the work which was obtained for him by the insurance company that, notwithstanding any incapacity due to the injury which may exist, he is able to perform work at which he can earn wages, and that by reason of his unreasonable refusal to attempt to perform and not seeking to obtain such employment he has been incapacitated for work since compensation was stopped. Therefore, no compensation is due him under the act at this time."

"Should the employee use reasonable diligence in the matter of seeking and performing work which may be obtained in the present state of the labor market and thus fix his earning capacity, his right is reserved to come in under part III, section 12, and the general provisions of the act, and have his compensation rate determined, should he earn less than $16.50 a week, because of a condition due to his injury."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Government war expenditures in August broke all monthly records by more than $100,000,000, amounting to $1,714,000,000 on reports up to today. Later reports may raise this by $50,000,000.

Ordinary war expenses amounted to $1,458,000,000, or $200,000,000 more than last month's high record. This did not include outlays of last Saturday yet to be tabulated. Loans to allies were reported as $244,000,000, not including Saturday.

LOWELL MAN ARRESTED

WITH I. W. W. MEMBERS

Among the I. W. W. members recently arrested in Illinois, some of whose convictions were announced last week, was John Avilla, formerly of this city, and known to people in the vicinity of upper Central street from the fact that he was the proprietor for some time of a barber shop near the Central street entrance of the Opera House and had made a large number of acquaintances in this city.

Avilla was 26 or 27 years of age and, for trouble in Lowell a number of years ago, and the figure of the tall, slim leader, always wearing a velvet blous hat, will be well remembered by many local people. Although he was an active figure at that time, his actions were not of the disorderly sort and never got him in trouble.

Avilla was 26 or 27 years of age and, of course, a registrant in the draft of June 5, 1917. He was a registrant of Division 3 in this city and last winter was wanted for failing to comply with the instructions of the exemption board of that division. He left Lowell during the winter and the board had been unable to get in touch with him for some time. Finally he was located in Cook's county, Illinois, and several months ago he wrote to the local exemption board that he had been arrested by the government for his connection with the alleged unpatriotic proceedings of the I. W. W. In his letter he expressed penitence for his actions. Whether he has been given a penitentiary term or has been sent to an army camp, it is not known. His name did not appear among those who were given sentences by Judge Landis last week. Local exemption board officials incline to the view that he has been sent to an army camp.

It is understood that Avilla has a wife and several children living in Lowell at the present time.

Labor Day Parade

the ranks until the last inch of ground had been covered. There were several attractive features in the parade, notably the great number of men in khaki from Camp Devens, the large number of women, who stood the strain of march throughout, and the several floats indicative of the spirit in which the 1918 celebration was organized. With the exception of those used in drawing floats there were no horses in the parade, the chief marshal, his staff, as well as the marshals of the various divisions being on foot, and that fact is worthy of mention.

The parade, which contained five divisions besides, the special division composed of Greek speaking soldiers from Camp Devens and a great number of members of the local Greek community, was one of the longest ever seen in this city and in it patriotism was splendidly exemplified. Flags of all the allied nations were carried, service flags were much in evidence, while numerous placards calling attention to contributions of the locals to Liberty bonds and war work in general were also given conspicuous places in the line. The floats were also of a patriotic nature and they greatly enhanced the beauty of the demonstration.

Forming the Parade

The parade formed on the four sides of the South common, the front resting at Thorndike and Summer streets, and was headed by Supt. Redmond Welch council; T. F. Garvey, Cigar Makers; Jacob Weichel, Brewery Workers; John J. Butterworth, John Mahan, board of health; Master Lester Gordon, Mrs. Lillian Kelley of the Beavers; Miss Josie Monroe, Beavers; Miss Grace Sullivan, Woolen and Worsted Weavers; Miss Margaret Bellamy, Miss Mary Brown of the Weavers and Miss Margaret Angus of the Ballers and Wappers.

Then came a platoon of police, headed by Lieut. Martin F. Connors. Next in line were about 600 Greek speaking soldiers of Camp Devens, who were guests of the local Greek community for the day. They were commanded by Lieut. W. F. Livingston, Jr., of the 42d Division, who after serving three months in the trenches of France was sent to Camp Devens as an instructor. Assisting him was Lieut. Jay, Jr. The soldiers marched to music furnished by the Lowell Helene band and they made a very fine showing. Following them were the directors of the Greek community, headed by President C. Vurgaropoulos and the three leading local Greek physicians, Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos, Dr. George Demopoulos and Dr. Demosthenes Generalis. Four Y. M. C. A. secretaries at Camp Devens, W. F. Slade, George F. Harvey, Howard F. Legg and Samuel P. Bumpus, were also in line in uniform.

The Lowell Cadet band, led by Joseph F. Convery, headed the first division, which followed Chief Marshal Francis A. Warnock and his staff. The first division was marshalled by John W. Downing, vice president of the Trades and Labor council, and consisting of the members of the council attired in frock coats and wearing silk hats. Local 50, Firefighters, came next with Capt. Brown of the Lawrence street house in command. There were 40 men in line and they made a fine showing. A large representation of Operating Engineers attired in blue shirts, dark trousers and black caps came next, and they were followed by automobiles containing Secretary Chas. E. Anderson, Mrs. Anderson and their little daughter, Marion, and Brother McVey of the Brewery Workers. Other autos contained Mrs. Joseph F. Convery, Mrs. Fred L. Campbell and Mrs. Annie Odel of the Trades and Labor the police department in the department automobile, which also contained the following women of the Lowell Textile community: Miss Annie Duffy, secretary of the Woolen and Worsted Weavers; Miss Margaret Trowbridge of Mayflower lodge; Miss Agnes Duffy of the Ballers and Wappers; Miss Mary Brown of the Weavers and Miss Margaret Angus of the Ballers and Wappers.

Heading the second division were the members of Lodge 133, International Association of Machinists, who carried blue shirts, straw hats and carried small American flags. They were headed by President Joseph Carroll and they made a fine showing both in numbers and appearance. In this part of the parade were carried numerous banners calling attention to the millions of members of the union in this country, the thousands in the service and the large contributions to the Liberty loans.

The Saco-Lowell section, which came next, also proved interesting. A feature of this section was a handsome float depicting three girls in overalls as well as several men, all at work. The girls were Miss Jennie Pearson, on the ladder; Miss Rosa Dorson, straightening spindles, and Miss Anna Keefe, working on knee brakes. In this section were also several automobiles.

The Federated Crafts of the B. & M. car shops had about 300 men in line and they carried their service flag containing 207 stars. Al. Kinnon led the members of Local 745, Machinists, who are employed as fixers at the U. S. Cartridge company and this organization was one of the greatest in line. The men wore white shirts, dark trousers, straw hats and carried red, white and blue canes. A feature of this section was the float representing a dug-out, two men nattered in the U. S. A. uniform operating an Enfield machine gun and a bayoneted rifle. This float proved very pleasing.

Rex Strip Shingles

Are the most economical of all styles of Asphalt Shingles. This is true for every operation in connection with their use—first cost—cost of freight—cost of nails—cost of labor to lay them—cost of upkeep. Yet they are so durable—so permanently beautiful—so thoroughly satisfactory that they are used on expensive residences everywhere. They are guaranteed ten years—never require paint—and are approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

their section of the parade one of the most attractive and they succeeded in their efforts. They represented a living American flag and won applause all along the line. Heading the section were the allied nations, Miss Ann Salter, "America," Miss Claire McLaughlin, "England," and Miss Eva Gagnon, "France." These women were attired in the uniform of the country each represented and their appearance was splendid. Mrs. Alice Shee, president of the organization, headed the group which represented the living flag. The women were attired in gowns of crepe paper of red, white and blue and wore star shaped hats. This lodge also had a float of colonial style, which proved very pleasing.

The rear of this division was taken up by the blacksmiths and helpers and the grinders and polishers, who were in command of Frank Wilson and Thomas McCann.

In the front of the third division were there employees of the health department with President Mary Lyons in charge, the municipal employees headed by President T. F. Finnegan, the city teamsters in command of Michael Kelley, the pavers and ramblers with a handsome float, showing the work in which they are engaged. They were under the command of President P. J. Garrity.

Next in line came the bartenders, the barbers and brewery workers. The bartenders were attired in white coats, black trousers and black caps, as were the barbers. The latter had a pretty float containing all the fixings of a well appointed barber shop with three barbers at work.

The fourth division included the mill carpenters, who had a huge float containing samples of their work. They were headed by President F. H. Greenwood. The electrical workers came next, with the telephone girls in the lead, headed by Miss Helen Moran, president. John J. Wade commanded the girls' section was a float rigged up with telephone lines, as well as telephone instruments and a switch board. The stationary firemen followed in charge of Thomas F. Quinn, and they carried the coal teamsters and chauffeurs headed by William Lowe.

The fifth and last division was made up of the textile workers, with Dana B. Hart acting as marshal. The Polish Textile Workers were first in line and they were followed by the Dresser Tenders. Then came the Woolen Spinners, the Beavers with their float representing a spinning operation, the Manchester Loomfixers and the Lowell Loomfixers.

The parade left the South common and covered the following route: Thorndike street, to Middlesex street, to Gorham street, to Davis square, to Central, to Merrimack, to Bridge, to Fifth, to Read, to Sixth, to Bridge, to Merrimack, to Moody, to Cabot, to Merrimack and to Dutton street. It was reviewed at city hall by the city fathers and later at Dutton street by the chief marshal and staff and dismissed.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Commissioners Charles J. Morse, James E. Donnelly and George H. Brown acted as judges and at the close of the parade announced the prize winners as follows:

Best trade feature, Telephone Operators, first; second, Saco-Lowell shop girls, Machinists, 133. Best appearing union, Mayflower lodge, Local 738, Machinists. Cartridge shop girls first; second, Barbers. Largest number of men, Machinists, Local 745, fixers of Cartridge shop, first; second, Machinists, Local 133. Best trade motto,

Pavers and Ramblers, first; second, Woolen Spinners.

PARADE NOTES

Freddie Hall drove the American Express van carrying the casket destined for "Kaiser Bill." Fred says he has signed up for the job with the Lowell boys now "over there" when they march on the palace in Berlin.

One of the proudest men in line was John J. Carroll, president of the Machinists' union, who has done much personally to bring the union's membership up to its present strength.

"Mike" Mahoney showed that he is there yet as an athlete in the game on the common. His hop, step and jump was far and away the best of the day and one of the best ever seen.

What is so rare as a day in September like yesterday?

The picture of the human flag marching along beside the boys in khaki during the countermarch on Bridge street had a wealth of meaning to it indeed and if one did not applaud it was a feature fraught with deeper significance than mere hand-clapping at-ests.

Sergeant Hurley of Company M, one of the returned soldiers from the war of great tales of France, was the cynosure of all eyes and he marched with true soldierly bearing.

FUNERALS

CORCORAN—The funeral of Miss Mattie Corcoran took place yesterday morning from her home, 10 Fifth st. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Louis church at 10 o'clock by Rev. E. J. Vincent. The bearers were Raymond Vallancourt, Albert Fedaras, Isidore Maifenant, Edouard St. Hilaire, Arthème Paquin and Andre Lemieux. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Vincent. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Joseph Albert & Son.

DESROCHES—The funeral of Mrs. Jeanne Desroches took place yesterday morning from her home, 534 Moody street. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 10 o'clock by Rev. Eugene Turcotte, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Rosario Jalbert, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. L. N. Bachand, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The bearers were Omer Lemire, Edouard and Damese Prud'homme, Ernest Verville, Octave Boisjoly and Frank Hebert. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Holduc, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Joseph Albert & Son.

sued a proclamation for the observance of Labor day, been in Lowell yesterday he would have felt proud of the labor people of the Spindle City, for the celebration held in this city was, without exception, the best of its kind ever conducted here. The parade, the first number on the program held in the forenoon, had 6000 marchers, men and women, in line and contained a number of pleasing features which added materially to the huge success of the day. The sporting events conducted on the common in the afternoon were carried out without the slightest hitch, much to the satisfaction of all, while the great mass meeting held on the South common in the evening, demonstrated to a great extent that Lowell's labor is well organized that all connected with the craft affiliations are greatly interested in the advancement of unionism. Of course the biggest attraction of the day was the parade, which was held in the forenoon, and from the minute that the huge mass of toilers swung in line to the time that the parade was dismissed by the chief marshal, every-

MRS. F. H. EARLE FALL RIVER LADY

Says Vitalitas Is Splendid. What It Did for Her Stomach and Blood.

"Have taken Vitalitas and found it splendid; like it better than anything I have ever taken," writes Mrs. F. H. Earle, Fall River lady of 35 Bryanton avenue.

We like this comment because it fits the case of hundreds of people who are praising Vitalitas and who are finding new strength and health in its use. Mrs. Earle further writes that it was for disordered stomach and poor blood condition that she took Vitalitas. The benefits, she declares, are wonderful and she could not wish to feel better than she does now.

From Fall River alone we have received perhaps hundreds of written statements praising Vitalitas in the most enthusiastic terms. Some of them tell of people being quickly relieved of chronic indigestion, others of complete relief from rheumatism, nervous debility, liver or kidney ills. These reports are themselves, proof that what we maintain is true. Vitalitas is the best of all known natural medicines for the upbuilding of the system, purifying of the blood and toning of the nerves. Come to our store today and get a supply of Vitalitas.

Haig Wins Notable Victory Enemy Now Faces Disaster

Haig After Smashing Lines Protecting Douai and Cambrai Threatens to Outflank Main Hindenburg Line—British Took Lens, Great Coal Center, Without Opposition—Germans Suffered Worst Disaster of War in Loss of Drocourt-Queant Line—British Gain Four Miles on the Bapaume-Cambrai Road—Hun Evacuation of All of Northern France Near

(By The Associated Press)

On a front virtually 50 miles, from just below Ypres to a point near Peronne on the Somme, the German armies are in retreat.

GLORIOUS VICTORY FOR HAIG

The retreat has been forced by the series of unremitting hammer blows inflicted by Marshal Foch in the past six or seven weeks. It has now been accelerated by the notable victory won by Field Marshal Haig yesterday in breaking through the strong defensive lines protecting the railway centers of Douai and Cambrai and threatening to outflank even the main Hindenburg line south of St. Quentin.

10,000 HUNS CAPTURED

Already the capture of 10,000 prisoners by the British is reported. The German casualties in killed and wounded are declared to have been notably heavy as their thickly massed corps felt the force of the British blow.

GERMANS FACE DISASTER

So pronounced and speedy is the advance that it seems as if the Germans, if they have not met with a disaster, are on the verge of one.

The retreat, which had been proceeding somewhat leisurely both north and south of the Somme, has been markedly accentuated north of that river.

BRITISH TAKE LENS

In this movement the important French coal mining city of Lens, at the gates of which the British pounded vainly, virtually all last year, has been evacuated, the British moving on.

BRITISH SMASH ON IN FLANDERS

To the north of Flanders the retreat is continuing and the British have closed up the Lys salient by taking possession of the village of Wulverghem, two miles south of Kemmel.

GERMANS ADMIT DEFEAT

South of Lens the Germans are apparently acknowledging themselves beaten on the Queant-Drocourt line, where Haig's break-through was effected, and are retreating without attempting a counter drive.

BRITISH TAKE TOWN AFTER TOWN

Still further south the retirement has resulted in the evacuation of areas three to four miles deep on both sides of the Bapaume-Cambrai road, the British taking town after town.

HAIG SURPRISES GERMANS

Though the German command must have been anticipating an attack on the Hindenburg switch line, which the British had closely approached in their earlier advances, it apparently was not expected at the moment. The Germans seem to have been surprised at the quickness with which Haig's Canadians and other British forces after fighting their way up to the line, organized a crushing attack against the line itself.

GAIN FOUR MILES ON 20 MILE FRONT

This morning alone on the 20-mile front where the British mainly are engaged, they are reported to have advanced four miles. This seems to emphasize the cleanness of the break, and, with the large captures of prisoners, points to the demoralization of the German forces.

FALL OF CAMBRAI NEAR

The fall of Douai and Cambrai, which now seems not improbable in the near future, would put the entire German line out of joint between the North sea and Rheims and would be likely to force the evacuation of a great part of northern France, now occupied by the Germans.

FRANCO-AMERICAN SUCCESS

Operations by the French and Americans in the south may be counted upon to work toward such a result. There is a hint in today's despatches that some development of importance is impending on the southern front, where the left flank of the Hindenburg line is under Franco-American pressure.

Greatest Battle of Present Drive

Strongholds vital to the German defenses in northern France, which they sought to hold with large reserve forces rushed forward at the last moment, have fallen before the rapidly advancing British forces. Driving through the Drocourt-Queant line, English and Canadian troops are pushing the Germans before them in the greatest battle of the present offensive and one of the most important contests of the war.

The English have driven a wedge into the German lines with the taking of Epernay and a strongly fortified enemy position northeast of that town. The Douai plains spread out before the invaders with no natural defenses to overcome, such as have been surmounted in reaching their present lines. In the same sector to the south, English and Scottish troops are advancing, capturing many towns and villages, including Noreuil.

Thousands of Prisoners Taken

Thousands of prisoners passing to the rear testify to the superiority of the British attack. The various units represented by them indicate the haste with which the Germans rushed reinforcements into the battle in an effort to stave off the disaster of a completely broken line in the defenses protecting the cities of Douai and Cambrai. The capture of these cities by Field Marshal Haig would deprive the Germans of two of their most important bases of supplies in northern France.

British Gain on Lys Salient

On the Lys front the British forces continue to gain ground in the direct-tion of Estaires. Here it seems probable that the Germans plan to fall back to a line through Armentieres with the defenses of the Hindenburg line in their rear, which the British must break through before Lille.

Americans in Fierce Battle

On the French section of the long battle line, the Germans are in retirement northeast of Soissons. The entire Soissons plateau is now in the hands of the Franco-American troops under command of General Mangin. The French are advancing above Vauxaillon where late reports stated that the Germans are burning ammunition dumps preparatory to a further retirement, probably to the Chemin-des-Dames. As the latter place is also menaced by the French advance toward Vauxaillon, a still further retreat by the Germans is anticipated. The advance north of Soissons, which started six days ago, has been one of the most stubborn battles in which American forces have been engaged.

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG'S

OFFICIAL WAR REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The capture of the town of Queant, the southern support of the famous German switch line, before Cambrai and Douai, is announced in an official statement from Field Marshal Haig today.

In storming the Drocourt-Queant line, the Canadians assisted the British troops and carried everything before them.

Along this line the enemy was heavily defeated in his prepared defenses and is retiring on virtually the whole battle front.

The British forces are reported to have entered the towns of Pronville, Dougnies and Bertincourt.

War Orders to Be Cut Down
Because of the Congested
Housing Facilities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Sixty cities of the east, south, middle west and Pacific coast are to have their industrial war orders cut down because of congested housing and transportation facilities. It was announced today that the general staff had advised all bureaus of the war department to see that placing new orders in the cities named was reduced to a minimum. In spite of federal appropriations to relieve the housing shortage, the bureaus were informed, in some places workers are forced to use beds in three shifts a day.

The cities include: Bath, Me., Lowell,

CAMOUFLAGED

U-Boat Operating Off Nova Scotia Bears Large Wave-like Lines

Fishing Captain Was Taken Aboard—Had Long Talk With Hun Commander

GLoucester, Sept. 3.—The German submarine operating among the fishing fleet off the Nova Scotia coast is camouflaged with large wave like lines, according to Captain Manuel Quadros of the American fishing schooner Rush, sunk by the U boat a week ago. Captain Quadros was with 19 members of his crew reached his home here last night, said that the undersea craft was painted dark gray and that for several feet above the water line the camouflage was visible. The U boat, he said, was about 250 feet in length.

Capt. Quadros and three of his men were aboard the enemy craft for about three hours and had a lengthy conversation with its commander. The latter spoke excellent English and Portuguese as well. He told the fishermen that there were American magazines and newspapers on the U-boat and he accused the newspapers of distorting the truth about the submarines. He said that when his vessel left Germany it was under instructions to sink only three masters, but that because of the attitude of the American press orders had come to the U-boat by wireless to sink everything in sight.

The submarine commander had a list of vessels he had sunk. It was headed by the American swordfishing schooner Progress, one of eight fishermen sent to the bottom off Nantucket early in August. Captain Quadros inquired whether the Gloucester schooners Rob Roy and Annie Perry, sunk off the Nova Scotia coast a short time later, were on the list, and the submarine commander said he could not find the names on the paper he held.

Captain Quadros and three of his men were the only persons on the Rush when the undersea raider suddenly appeared from out of the fog at 5.45 in the morning.

The remainder of the crew were in the dories busy with their trawls. As the submarine approached Captain Quadros said, the submarine commander called to him to come aboard the U-boat and bring his three men with him. They complied with the order. Later when the other members of the crew rowed back to their boat, Captain Quadros and his three companions were transferred to one of the dories.

The Rush meanwhile had been sent to the bottom. After a row of four hours the men were all picked up by the fishing schooner John Fallon and were landed at a Canadian port.

CAPT. ROOSEVELT HOME

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 3.—Captain Archie Roosevelt, son of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, arrived here yesterday from France, where he was wounded last April during the capture of Cantigny by American troops in the first offensive operation carried out by General Pershing's men. On the same ship were 18 other officers and 300 men who also have been invalided home.

Captain Roosevelt's left arm was shattered by a machine gun bullet while leading his men in a charge, and he also is suffering from what he described as a "bad case of nerves."

His arm is partially paralyzed and it may be many months before he can return to active duty.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

A Certain Man who found out I was collecting things for this column asked me if all I had to do was to go around and pick up little items for it. He looked at me out of the corner of his eye, giving me a side slant, so to speak, as if he thought I ought to put in part of my time over at the Navy Yard weaving blankets. But I answered him civilly and told him that was about all I had to do. I might have mentioned that in the course of prospecting for lead I nevertheless had no doubt but that some day I should find gold!

That interview in The Sun last Saturday in which J. E. Moody, of the Turner Centre Creamery company, said he believed the time would soon be here when girls and young women would be hired to drive light trucks and deliver milk and food, made a bit with me. I think J. E. has the right ideas on that subject. Up in Bath, Me. last summer I saw a couple of women driving milk wagons and they seemed to get over the ground as well as men drivers. I think if a young woman here advertised that she could drive a truck and wanted a job, she would be given work.

I asked Billy Richards, the Lowell fancy step dancer, last week how he liked life up in Camp Devens. He has been up there eight months.

"I like it fine," he said. "I'm satisfied and no kick coming on my part at all."

"How is the grub coming?" I asked him.

"Fine. Good grub, plenty of it and it tastes good. We don't get pie and sweet cakes, but no one puts up any growl on that. Most of the boys' folks eat them enough of that kind of food and besides, there is the post exchange where you can buy all the pie and cake you want of good quality and at a fair price."

Now isn't that a good, philosophical

spirit for an American boy, soldiering for the time being, to have?

I notice they have put up a neat and serviceable wire fence to enclose the grass plot in Monument square and the grass plot in front of city hall. On the warm summer evenings I have noticed two or three hundred men sitting on the edge of the granite curbing that encloses these plots and I suppose the park commission thought the grass might be killed off. If it had been earlier in the season the combination of putting up this necessary fence and at the same time scattering ten or twelve good benches around this square, might have been a good one. The workers of the city certainly appreciate these open air breathing spaces.

Keith's and the Lowell Opera House opened their winter season last night and that makes two more places to go. I certainly do enjoy a good vaudeville show and a good play. I understand both the above houses had large audiences last night and The Sun wishes them a prosperous season.

There is a squirrel up in Fort Hill park to whom I must give three or four lessons in cracking nuts some evening this week and as soon as I get this duty off my mind I plan taking in these two shows. As a dead-end? Well, I should say not. I am going to lay down 20 cents for the best seat in that part of the ceiling each playhouse affords and then, afterwards, if I want to, I can speak my mind about what I got for my money. I remember seeing Julius Noa, (leading man at the Opera House) two years ago playing in the Miracle Man at Brockton and I thought then that Jules was pretty good.

I have been wondering how long it would be before the man power problem here in Lowell would reach that stage where the dairy lunch places would have to use women clerks behind the marble slabbed counter. I see that the Waldorf place has hired a good looking blonde woman to preside behind the counter and I think she makes a good clerk. She "holers" "plate of," and other lunch room terms to the serving man in back, in a masterful way too.

I have to confess, although I know when they do it they are living up to the food administrator's rule, that this one spoonful of sugar the restaurant people put in your coffee, doesn't, so far as I am concerned, do the business. I wish I could have more sugar. I have had, therefore, more or less sympathy and I think I admire a chap I have seen in one or two of the Lowell restaurants, who carries his own supply of sugar with him in a small pasteboard box, and always produces it and pours in the amount of sugar he has to have, as if it were the most natural thing in the world.

WHEAT $2.20 BUSHEL

Pres. Wilson Sets Price and Names Board to Judge Necessity of Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—This year's government wheat price was continued in effect for the 1919 crop by President Wilson yesterday in a proclamation fixing $2.20 as the minimum price at primary markets. Winter wheat will be sold at this price, but the president accompanied his proclamation with a statement giving notice that before the harvest of next spring he will appoint a commission to report on increased cost of farm labor and supplies to guide him in determining whether there shall be an advance in price for the spring crop.

The possibility of peace before the middle of 1920 was touched upon in the president's statement, in connection with the risk that by guaranteeing wheat prices the government might lose as much as half a billion dollars if Europe should find its supplies available from the southern hemisphere.

The proclamation fixes as reasonable guaranteed prices for number one northern spring wheat and its equivalent at the principal primary markets the following:

New York $2.39½; Philadelphia 2.39; Baltimore and Newport News 2.38½; Duluth $2.22½; Minneapolis $2.21½; Chicago $2.26; St. Louis $2.24; Kansas City and Omaha $2.18; New Orleans and Galveston 2.25; Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Astoria, San Francisco and Los Angeles, $2.20; Salt Lake City, Great Falls, Pocatello and Spokane, $2.00.

The president's memorandum says: "In issuing today the government's guarantee of the same price for the 1919 wheat crop that was guaranteed for the 1918 crop, I wish it to be understood that the spring of 1919 I will appoint a disinterested commission who will secure for me the facts by that time disclosed as to the increased cost of farm labor and supplies, using the three year pre-war average prices of wheat, of labor and of supply costs as a basis, and that from this information I shall determine whether there should be an increase in price above the present level and, if so, what advance. In order to maintain for the farmer a good return. Should it then appear that an increase is deserved, it will be applied only to those who have 1918 wheat."

"It is the desire and intention of all departments of the administration to give to the wheat grower a fair and stimulative return in order that the present acreage in wheat may be maintained."

"I find a great conflict of opinion among various sections of the country as to the price that should be named as a minimum guarantee. It must be obvious to all, however, that the factors which will make for increased or decreased cost of production of next year's harvest cannot be determined until the near approach to the harvest."

"In giving a guaranteed price for wheat one year in advance (the only industry guaranteed by the government), there is involved a considerable national risk. If there should be peace or increased shipping available before the middle of 1920, Europe will naturally supply itself from the large stores of much cheaper wheat now in the southern hemisphere; and, therefore, the government is undertaking a risk which might result in an event result in a national loss of as much as $500,000,000 through an unsalable surplus; or, in any event, in maintaining a high level of price to our own people for a long period subsequent to freedom in the world's market."

"Despite this the desirability of assuring a supply to the world of prime breadstuffs by insuring the farmer against the fluctuations in prices that would result from the uncertainties of the present situation and from the speculation those uncertainties entail seems to me to make the continuation of the guarantee for another year desirable. On the other hand, it is clear that before increasing this liability by large sums with the risks set forth above and before increasing the burden of the consumer, the matter should be subjected to searching inquiry at the appropriate time—the time when the pertinent facts will be known."

"I feel confident that with this preliminary fixed guarantee and with the assurance that justice will in any event be done to the grower, he will continue the fine patriotic effort by which he has served the country hitherto. That the government will have acted prudently and that the consumer will be satisfied that his interests are not unduly sacrificed, but just and exhaustive consideration given to every element of the matter at the proper time."

The joint agricultural advisory committee of the food administration and the department of agriculture composed of farmers throughout the country, presided over by former governor H. C. Stuart of Virginia, recently decided to recommend the fixing of the minimum price for the 1919 crop at $2.48, one cent above the price contained in the agricultural appropriation bill which caused its veto.

T. R. CALLS SHIPYARD SLACKERS TRAITORS

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Slackers in American shipyards who loaf individually and unions of shipbuilders which limit the output of ships were denounced by Theodore Roosevelt yesterday as traitors to the country.

Colonel Roosevelt delivered an address on the occasion of the launching from the Newburgh shipyards of the first of 10 vessels, each of 3000 tons dead weight, which are to be built here for the United States shipping board.

Limits on Rivington

Emphasizing the patriotic service rendered by the shipbuilders, the colonel said:

"A slacker in our shipyards is as shameful a creature as a coward in the army in France, and a good worker in the shipyards stands honorably forward like a good soldier in the army. I have come here to Newburgh largely because my inquiries have convinced me that here there has been no organized limitation of output and practically no loafing. I am convinced that, generally speaking, there is a fine spirit of patriotism in shipbuilding labor in all parts of the country."

How an expert judges a cigarette.

WHEN you ask an expert to give his opinion on a cigarette, he draws in the smoke, and then slowly blows it out. That is the way he tests it for certain essential qualities.

If he finds smoothness—fragrance—"pep"—body, he calls it a real smoke.

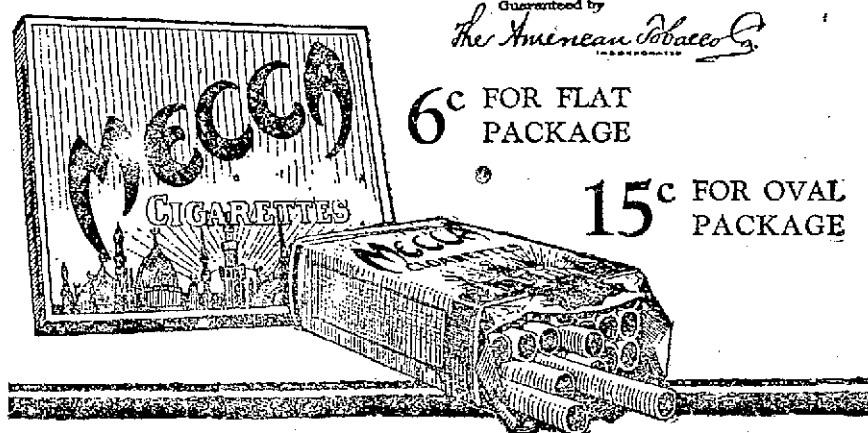

You can't find these different qualities in one tobacco. Nature doesn't grow any one tobacco that gives you everything you want in a cigarette.

That's why, to get the Mecca flavor, they take 12 tobaccos—7 American and 5 Turkish. They mix these 12 tobaccos, and then, for 50 hours, pass moist heat through them all.

This is the famous Still-Blend process.

By it they draw the smoothness and fragrance of the Turkish into the American, and the body and "pep" of the American into the Turkish until all of the 12 become 1 tobacco.

That's how they get the flavor that has made Mecca the favorite of over a million smokers.

You can foretell the future

You say "The man who could foretell illness would make a fortune!" Of course no man can—in the sense you mean. But you can tell pretty accurately what to expect your own body to do.

How?

Get this simple physiology:

Your body machine has to be repaired. It also must have fuel to supply heat and energy. Your food supplies both repair material and fuel. But a furnace always produces ashes and clinkers. If these accumulate, the furnace becomes clogged and cannot work properly.

If your bowels become clogged—you suffer from constipation.

Perhaps you hurry to work or play and neglect to obey Nature's call. Waste matter stagnates in the bowels. You go right on eating, drinking, working. What happens? The constipation becomes established. Waste matter undergoes decay, fermentation and germ action. Poisons are formed, absorbed, carried all over the body. They attack the weakest part of you first.

Then you know you're sick. In reality you've been getting sick since you missed that first movement.

If you want to keep well—wholly well, all the time, so that you're on your toes every day, remove that waste.

Many people take pills, castor oil, purgative mineral waters to force the bowels to act.

These act, but they irritate, tire out the intestinal muscles, make the trouble worse.

Others take "salts," which attract water to the intestines and flush the bowels—about as gently as a fire hose. A re-action follows that makes the intestines dryer than ever and aggravates the constipation.

You needn't do this and weaken your system just because all of your ancestors did.

The Nujol Treatment moves the waste regularly, and easily. It is a purely mechanical process, absolutely harmless, based on a simple principle—that you can move a softened mass out of a tube more easily than a hard, dry one. It doesn't gripe—you won't know you have taken anything until after a few days your bowels move at the regular hour. It makes you "regular as clockwork."

Don't try to foretell illness. Foretell it. Don't wait until you are sick. Keep well now. Your drug-gist has Nujol.

From now on American shipbuilders must bear this burden. Therefore, any limitation of output in our shipyards is a crime against the country.

"Any union rule or workmen's agreement to limit the output in shipyards should be treated as criminal at this time. Pershing's men are not limiting their output. Shame and disgrace should be the portion of any man who here at home limits the output necessary to make the blood and labor of our soldiers at the front of avail."

GREEK SOLDIERS WERE WELL ENTERTAINED

Five hundred and fifty Greek-speaking soldiers visited here yesterday to assist in the celebration of Labor day by the Lowell Greek community, and everyone who was busy in this part of the day's program was repaid for his efforts, as it proved a big success. The soldier boys arrived on an early train and were conducted by the committee to the Greek church. After receiving communion, they formed and marched in the parade.

At noon, immediately following the parade, the Greek division enjoyed a banquet at the Y.M.C.A. Costas Vargopoulos, president of the community was the toastmaster and the invited guests included the commanders of the soldiers, namely: Lieutenants Livingston and Shanley, accompanied by their wives; Dr. and Mrs. John C. Gatsopoulos, Dr. George A. Demopoulos, Dr. Demosthenes Generalis and Rev. Anagnostopoulos.

Dr. Gatsopoulos spoke to the soldiers and declared that he hoped to be with them when they marched through Germany, and impressed upon them the fact that not only were they upholding the ideals of this country when they donned the uniform, but they were also defending the principles of democracy of their own native land.

The dance in the evening at Association hall marked the first annual dance enjoyed by Greek-speaking soldiers of Camp Devens. The hall was well filled and the party proved a very pleasant one, and the dancing was thoroughly enjoyed to the music of Hibbard's orchestra.

The proceeds of the dance will go directly as a benefit fund for the soldiers. There were also present, Lieut. Wilkins and Sergt. Bago of the intelligence office at Camp Devens. The dance ended at 11:35 so that the soldiers might make train connections for their trip back to camp.

Sergt. John A. Spannon, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in general charge of the dance, assisted by Sergt. J. Regas, Private M. Anagnos, Privates Pan Athas, Cafetzakis, Cassavates and Lolos as aids. Private Constantine Rozes was floor director.

WILL NOT CHANGE TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Abraham Smith, a Middlesex street dealer, through his counsel, Albert S. Howard of the firm of Qu, Howard & Rogers, attempted this morning at a regular meeting of the municipal council to have the traffic ordinance, which forbids drive-aways of vehicles to allow their wagons or automobiles to stand more than five minutes in Middlesex street in the vicinity of the railroad station, repealed, but his efforts proved fruitless, for after being given a hearing he was informed that if the ordinance did not show improvements other measures would be taken to have the blockade of traffic stopped at that point, and he was given leave to withdraw.

Mr. Howard, representing Mr. Smith, said his client owns and conducts a business establishment near the railroad station and the ordinance is now causing him hardships inasmuch as customers are not allowed to stop their vehicles at Mr. Smith's door more than a minute or two. He said Mr. Smith has been running a business in that vicinity for the past 26 years and is still to receive a complaint as to the blockade of traffic. He urged that the ordinance be changed to read 15 minutes instead of five minutes, and he stated that Mr. Lemaitre, Mr. Gaudette, Mr. Cohen and Mr. Ranslett were also in favor of having the ordinance amended.

Mayor Thompson read a report of statistics taken at Mr. Smith's door by the war department last June, showing that at one time there were as many as five automobiles in front of the store from between 20 minutes and one hour. The mayor stated that the war department considered the place a dangerous one and that by allowing vehicles to stand there more than five minutes the transportation of war production was being hindered. The mayor also read a letter of appreciation for the passage of the ordinance written by C. E. Coyne, supervisor of the community work of the ordinance department, production division, who also requested that proper signs relative to the ordinance be placed in conspicuous places. C. Harry Clapp stated that in his opinion it there was anything wrong with the ordinance it was that the rules were not drastic enough. Commissioner Brown said he believed the time should be changed from five minutes to two minutes. Finally on motion of Commissioner Brown it was voted to give the petitioner leave to withdraw.

Hearings were held on the following petitions, which were all referred: The New England Telephone company for the relocation of a pole in Union street, the Bay State Street Railway company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for the joint location of one pole in Varnum avenue near Mammoth road, the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Loring street and one in Highland street, Lowell Building Trust for permission to keep gasoline in the rear of 341 Middlesex street, James J. Norton for a garage and gasoline license at 119 Paige street, Adam Guillette for a garage and gasoline license in Hildreth street, the Otis Allen & Son company for a gasoline license at 268 Mt. Vernon street, Louis Poissant for a gasoline license at 128 Dalton street, the Clapp Stable & Garage company for a gasoline license at 500 Middlesex street and a garage and gasoline license in Arch street, Henry C. Pearson for a garage and gasoline license in the rear of 834 Stevens street and Alphonse Bibault for a gasoline license at 21 Wilder street.

John Vlahos was given a hearing on his petition for a gasoline license at 5 and 7 Sargent street, but John Manahan, E. W. Wright and Joseph P. Marchand appeared as remonstrants on the ground that if the license were granted it would be a public nuisance. The petition was referred. The petition of the Bay State Street Railway company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a joint pole location at the corner of Andover and Nesmith streets was read and Sept. 17 was set as the date for the hearing. On recommendation of Commissioner Morse it was voted to lay a sewer in West Eleventh and West Tenth streets at a cost of $1250, the amount to be assessed to the abutters being $75. The Bay State Street Railway company, the New England Telephone company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation were given leave to withdraw their petition for ten joint pole locations in Gorham street. The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for two pole locations in Clark street was granted, as was that of the Bay State Street Railway company, the Postal Telegraph company, the New England Telephone company and the Lowell Electric Light corporation for joint pole locations in Lawrence street. P. E. Flagg and others petitioned for the extension of the Hadley street sewer from No. 15 to 35 and 51 and the petition was referred to Commissioner Morse. An order designating polling places for the year 1918 was adopted. A requisition for the purchase of a car-load of No. 1 clipped oats for the street department, filed by Commissioner Morse, was approved. The meeting then adjourned until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

AMERICAN WOUNDED

Convalescent Soldiers Transferred from London Hospitals to American Red Cross

PAIGNTON, England, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Many convalescent American soldiers are now being transferred from hospitals in London and other parts of England to the American Red Cross hospital on the south Devonshire coast here. The hospital is the former country home of a wealthy American, who turned it into an American hospital for British privates early in the war. It is now occupied almost entirely by American enlisted men, sick and wounded. The estate is one of the finest of its kind in Great Britain and its location is unsurpassed for convalescent cases. This particular section for southern England is known as the "English Riviera" on account of its abundance of sunshine and its bracing air. The hospital at present has a capacity of about 300 beds and is staffed throughout by American doctors and nurses.

MILITARY TRAINING AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Students attending the Lowell Textile school this season will have in addition to their studies, a course in military training, and when the school opens this month there will be very nearly 100 men in uniform and they will be considered as belonging to a new army camp. They will remain here under training until the government calls for their services.

Capt. Charles M. Cecil has been appointed as military instructor, while there will also be assistants at the school, including three Textile students who have been at Plattsburg during the summer months, and who will probably receive commissions.

The new draft takes in many of the students and those attending the school under the draft law are planning to take up their studies as well as attending the training battalion, and thus they may prove themselves worthy of winning commissions at some future date, when the government has called them into the national army.

There is a possibility that later on the military students may live in barracks at the school, where they will undergo the regular routine of a special army camp. Lowell men who come under the new draft will be given an opportunity to enter the Textile school, subject to the new arrangements, and information on this point may be obtained from the authorities at the school.

Principal Charles H. James left last night for Plattsburg, where he will attend a conference of the heads of colleges and technical schools that has been called by the government.

MRS. SKEL ACCUSED OF MURDER OF MISS GAY

LAWRENCE, Sept. 3.—When Bessie May Skels, the Andover nurse who was arrested last Monday on a charge of larceny from the estate of the late Florence W. Gay of Andover, was arraigned in the district court today, an additional charge of the murder of Miss Gay was preferred as a result of an investigation conducted by the state authorities into the cause of Miss Gay's death.

Miss Gay died Dec. 12, 1917, the cause being given by the attending physician as cerebral hemorrhage. In April, 1918, her body was exhumed at the request of District Attorney Henry O. Wells and the stomach sent to Prof. Whitney of Harvard, who reported that he found arsenic in it. Mrs. Skels pleaded not guilty to both charges and waived the reading of the complaints. District Attorney Wells asked for a postponement of the case but Daniel J. Daley, counsel for Mrs. Skels, opposed this, urging that the larceny charge be heard at once. The court finally decided to continue both cases till Sept. 14.

There was a long discussion between the court, counsel and physicians for the prosecution and defense as to whether Mrs. Skels should be sent back to the hospital or committed to jail.

TO OBSERVE "DAISY DAY" Saturday is to be observed as "Daisy Day" in Lowell, when the members of the Women's Auxiliary of the 101st Infantry will endeavor to raise a large sum of money for the benefit of what is termed the "Daisy Regiment." Aeroplanes sent from Boston, will fly over the city dropping daisies and pamphlets. There have been arrangements made whereby a great many of the mill bells will ring at noon-time. Commissioner Brown will send a truck to Merrimack square for the use of the committee in making speeches, etc. The workers will start out at 8 o'clock in the morning and as the daisies are made in their homes they will give in exchange a small white daisy to be pinned on coat or dress. The ladies will be dressed in white, wearing white caps bearing the inscription, "101st U.S.A." Every city and town in the commonwealth having representatives working for the auxiliary will observe Saturday in this manner. The drive in Boston will be on a very large scale, with Esia M. Barr, managing director, who has visited Lowell several times, working on the committee which is planning to have marches and speeches on the program for the day. There will be a meeting in the evening in the board of trade rooms at the War Work Headquarters for the purpose of discussing the plans for this "Daisy Day."

Lowell Men Commissioned In the list just made public of the commissions awarded candidates at the camp for infantry officers at Camp Devens, appears the name of Brooks Woodworth, 13 Hawthorne street, who went to the school from Camp Devens. Lieut. Woodworth is favorably known in Lowell and his success in landing an officer's berth will be gratifying to his friends and former schoolmates.

Mr. Philip Loupret, of 72 Royal street, is one of the 60 New England men commissioned second lieutenant at the officers' school at Camp Gordon, Ga.

SERIOUSLY BURNED Mabel Bratchell, aged 5 years and residing in Worcester was taken to St. John's hospital in an ambulance yesterday afternoon and this morning her condition was reported as very serious. The child is suffering from severe burns all over her body, but it is not known how the accident occurred.

WITH LOWELL BOYS IN ARMY AND NAVY

Lieut. Richard D. Donoghue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donoghue, 4 Hazeltine street, commissioned Saturday in the quartermaster corps of the army, will return to Lowell for a few days before reporting for his post of duty as assistant to the chief of transportation in the quartermaster's department in New York city.

Lieut. Donoghue has been stationed at Camp Devens since he was sent by the exemption board of Division 3 last November and in the transportation division of the Q.M.C. at Devens, he was singularly successful his railroad experience holding him in good stead. He was commended to Sec. McAdoo by the federal director of railroads stationed at Ayer for his efficient work in train despatching at the time of the departure of the 76th division and the commission is a natural sequence to his work at that time. He was formerly a member of the Twentieth Century Bachelor club when "Charlie" Slattery's organization was in its youthful prime.

Lieut. King at Chicago

Lieut. Leo A. King, principal of the Edison school, and commissioned recently in the quartermaster corps, has been assigned to Chicago in an important department of the Q.M.C. Lieut. King is a product of Lowell schools, a graduate of Holy Cross college, and was principal of the Edison school when he enlisted last winter.

Lieut. Arthur L. Eno, a young Lowell attorney, who enlisted last winter, too was in Lowell Saturday on a visit to his home before reporting to his station.

Private Cull Making Good

Private Arthur T. Cull, erstwhile of The Sun, now stationed at Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., is from all reports making good. He is clerk of his company at the cantonment and for a time set type in the printing department there and his work was quite satisfactory.

Private Frank Corbett, of Lowell, is also in camp and aside from the fact that the weather is just a bit hot the Lowell boys are well and happy.

Mr. Queenan Leaves

Mr. Joseph P. Queenan, recently appointed K. of C. secretary in the war work of the order, leaves tonight for the cantonment at Newport News, Va., where he will take up the work the great order of K. of C. is doing in connection with the war. Mr. Queenan, of course, will lead Lowell boys at the camp for Lowell is probably represented in over one-half of the training camps of the country. Private George O'Malley, brother of William T. O'Malley of the Old Lowell bank, is stationed at this camp as well as several other well known young men.

Wm. Liddell Commissioned In the list of commissions given out at artillery officers' school, Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., appears the name of Wm. Liddell, of Chambers street, who was recommended from Camp Devens for the school, and who from the first displayed keen interest in army work. His success in landing the much coveted gold "bar" will be gratifying news to his many Lowell friends.

Two Sailors in One Family

Joseph G. Pyne, teacher of languages at the high school, and his brother, Thomas P. Pyne, formerly president of the Boston college club of Lowell, both of whom are in the navy of their country, are home for a few days visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pyne, Central street. Both young men look fine, feel splendid and say they will stay on the job until the Kaiser is taken a prisoner and incarcerated in St. Helena.

Lieut. Garrity at Buffalo

Lieut. Hugh Garrity, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Garrity, of Chelmsford street, is now attached to the medical corps at Fort Porter, Buffalo, N. Y. An ideal spot, he says. The young lieutenant is a great booster for Buffalo and the people of the Bison city and allows that at the fort, very high degree of efficiency is maintained. His brother, Thomas Garrity, now attached to the naval station at Hingham, was home over the holiday and says that the life in the navy is simply great.

Lowell Men Commissioned

In the list just made public of the commissions awarded candidates at the camp for infantry officers at Camp Devens, appears the name of Brooks Woodworth, 13 Hawthorne street, who went to the school from Camp Devens. Lieut. Woodworth is favorably known in Lowell and his success in landing an officer's berth will be gratifying to his friends and former schoolmates.

Mr. Philip Loupret, of 72 Royal street, is one of the 60 New England men commissioned second lieutenant at the officers' school at Camp Gordon, Ga.

SERIOUSLY BURNED Mabel Bratchell, aged 5 years and residing in Worcester was taken to St. John's hospital in an ambulance yesterday afternoon and this morning her condition was reported as very serious. The child is suffering from severe burns all over her body, but it is not known how the accident occurred.

REVENUE BILL

Greatest of All Tax Measures in the History of Nation Finished

Provides for the Raising of $8,000,000,000—Goes to House Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The new revenue bill—greatest of all tax measures in the history of the nation—with a levy affecting every individual and business concern in the country—was approved unanimously yesterday by the house ways and means committee. Chairman Kitchin will introduce the measure in the house today and ask that consideration of it begin next Friday. Leaders hope to send it to the senate within ten days after debate begins.

The final committee estimate of the revenue to be yielded under the new bill is $8,012,792,000, as against $3,941,633,000 last year under the present law. The largest source of estimated revenue is from taxes on excess profits, including war profits—$3,100,000,000—and the next is from taxes on incomes—$1,452,186,000 from individuals and $828,000,000 from corporations.

The increase in the taxes on the specific income of married persons without dependents is shown by the following table:

Incomes	Tax Under Existing Law	Proposed Law
$ 2,500	10	20
3,000	20	40
3,500	30	60
4,000	40	80
4,500	60	120
5,000	80	160
10,000	355	845
25,000	1,780	4,425
50,000	5,180	12,495
100,000	16,180	39,095
1,000,000	476,180	647,095
6,000,000	3,140,180	5,827,095

The exemptions under the new bill are the same as under the old $1000 for single persons and $2000 for married persons with $200 additional allowed for each dependent child under 18 years of age. An exemption of $200 for each dependent incapable of self-support, because of mental or physical disability, also is allowed.

The estimated yield from sources other than incomes and excess and war profits includes:

Transportation: Freight, $75,000,000; express, $20,000,000; passenger fares, $60,000,000; seats and berths, $5,000,000; oil by pipe lines, $4,550,000.

Telegraph and telephone: Messages, $16,000,000; insurance, $12,000,000; admissions (theatres, circuses, etc.), $100,000,000; club dues, $9,000,000.

Excise taxes: Automobiles, etc., $125,750,000; jewelry, sporting goods, etc., $80,000,000; oil (taxes on luxuries at 10 per cent), $88,760,000; other taxes on luxuries, apparel, etc., above certain prescribed prices at 20 per cent, $131,395,000.

Gasoline, $40,000,000; yachts and pleasure boats, $1,000,000. Beverages, $1,137,500,000; stamp taxes, $32,000,000; tobacco, cigars, $61,364,000; cigarettes, $165,240,000; tobacco, $104,000,000; snuff, $9,100,000; paper and books, $1,500,000.

Special taxes: Capital stock, $70,000,000; low-level, sporting goods, etc., $2,143,000; mail order sales, $5,000,000; bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables, $2,200,000; shooting galleries, $400,000; riding academies, $50,000; business license tax, $10,000,000; manufacturers of tobacco, $60,000; manufacturers of cigars, $850,000; manufacturers of cigarettes, $240,000; use of automobiles and motorcycles, $72,920,000.

The committee explained that it had decided upon the raising of $3,000,000,000 by taxation because it had accepted as a sound fiscal policy the recommendation of Secretary McAdoo that one-third of the government's estimated expenditures of $24,000,000,000 this year be obtained from this source and the remaining two-thirds by bonds.

While under existing law only persons of lawful age have to make returns, the new bill requires persons under the lawful age and having a net income for the taxable year of $1000 or over, if single or if married and not living with husband or wife, and all married persons living with husband or wife having a net income of $2000 or over to make returns.

Partnerships are not liable to income

FUNERAL OF FR. RIORDAN

Services at St. Peter's Church—Brothers, Both Priests, Assist at Mass

The funeral of Rev. William F. Riordan took place this morning from the home of his sister, Mrs. J. W. McKenney, 620 School street, at 9 o'clock and was very largely attended by relatives and friends, including many from out of town.

The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock by Rev. Cornelius Riordan, brother of deceased, assisted by Rev. D. J. Keleher, deacon, and Rev. Joseph Riordan, also a brother of deceased, as sub-deacon. Rev. Patrick Linnahan was master of ceremonies. The choir, which was augmented for the occasion, sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Katherine Hennessy, Miss Mary Byrne, Messrs. John Roane, David Martin and James E. Donnelly. Miss Lulu Ginty presided at the organ. Seated within the sanctuary were the following priests, Rev. Roderick Quirbach, Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's; Rev. D. J. Heffernan, Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church; Rev. Joseph Curtin of St. Patrick's church and Rev. Timothy P. Callahan of St. Patrick's church.

The casket was borne from the church to the hearse by the following bearers: James Liston, William Liston, William P. Foy, John McKenney, Michael Finnleek and Frank Menley. There were many beautiful floral offerings. After the mass the cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, where impressive services were read by Rev. Cornelius Riordan, brother of the deceased, assisted by Rev. Joseph Riordan, Rev. D. J. Keleher and Rev. D. J. Heffernan. The Rev. D. J. Heffernan took place in the family lot. Undertaker William A. Mack had charge of the funeral. (Boston papers please copy.)

BERLIN ADMITS GERMANS HURLED BACK

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (via London).—South and east of Arras the British have succeeded with strong superior forces in throwing back our infantry line on both sides of the Arras-Cambrai highway, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters.

Northwest of Queant and on the northern fringe of Noreuil, the statement says, "we held the enemy thrust."

ORDER FOR A MILLION EMERGENCY RATIONS FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—An order for a million emergency rations for the overseas forces was announced today by the war department. The ration corresponds to the "iron ration" of the British troops. It is composed of a group of meat and what compressed into a cake and a block of sweet chocolate and will sustain a man a day.

THE GRAND JURY

The grand jury came to Lowell this morning and held a session at the court house in Gorham street. There were several cases heard and among them were about a half dozen from this city, the most important being that of Allen Gail Stenagurt, a former lieutenant in the United States army, who was located at Ayer, and who is being charged with polygamy. There were two cases for felonious assault and the remainder were breaking and entering. It is expected that the jury will report Friday and next Monday the criminal session of the superior court will open in this city.

AT ARCADIAN COTTAGE

A very enjoyable party was held at the Arcadian Cottage, Kearsarge, N. H., the home of Mrs. Minnie E. McIntire, last Thursday evening. Music and dancing were enjoyed. The house was beautifully decorated with red, white and blue jack o' lanterns. The guests included people from Brockton, Everett, Brookline, New Bedford, Somerville, Portland, Lowell and several other cities. The hostesses were Mary and Elizabeth Sullivan of Brookline and Jennie and Margaret McGrath of Lowell. Other Lowell people present were the Misses Margaret McCann, Nellie Fitzgerald and Margaret Teague. The party closed at a late hour, all singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

LOWELL MAN ACCEPTED FOR EXHIBITION ON MERCHANT MARINE TRAINING SHIPS

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Today's list of men accepted by the United States shipping board, after final physical examination at Boston, for enrollment on its merchant marine training ships, included Harold W. Lund, 491 Lawrence street, Lowell.

Quick, Painless Way to Remove Hairy Growths

(Helps to Beauty)

Here is a simple, unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hairs: With some powdered delatone and water make enough paste to cover the hairy surface, apply and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in an original package.—Adv.

CAPTURED BY AMERICANS

Juvigny. Taken After Five Days' Battle — Yankees Never Yield Ground

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The sad heap of what once were homes, which is all that remains of the place, wasn't even of tactical importance, says the correspondent for Reuters, Ltd., in a despatch from the headquarters of the American forces on the Aisne front, describing the capture of Juvigny by the American forces. The despatch continues:

Fought In Open

"There was very little fighting done in Juvigny itself, but in the neighboring valleys, where the fighting resolved itself into general infantry work, woodcraft and groundcraft proved invaluable to the Americans. They were mostly open-air men, with keen eyes and an appreciation of the country, and in the branching jumble of ravines they outpointed the Germans in working their way through without losing touch with their own line or being enveloped by the enemy. It was in consequence of their craft and good shooting that the American captures reached such a high figure, 550 being claimed yesterday. For the Boche wasn't there to surrender. He was there to fight and had fought as long as at least as hope remained.

"It was the 14th German regiment that tried to bar the way of the Americans, and the men of this regiment have nothing to reproach themselves for. They left many dead in those dark valleys and only surrendered when there was no other option.

Huns Were Desperate

"The enemy's measures to hold this plateau proved how seriously he must have regarded its loss. The Seventh and Eleventh reserve divisions seemed to have been the normal occupants of the line, but as they began to suffer three other divisions were hurried up to reinforce them. One regiment, the 27th, marched 140 miles. The march started at dawn on Aug. 21 and the men went straight into the battle on their arrival.

Shortly after dawn on Sunday morning when the Americans advanced, the enemy's resistance was broken and he had decided that the plateau could not be held. Even then it seemed for a short time as if the Americans might have to pay dear for what was left of the valley, but the men, flushed with victory, showed even greater determination than on the day before and after four hours, during which there was no forward movement possible, more cheerful news began to come to the Americans. Progress had been made by the French on our right and eventually a practically impossible position was created for the Germans, who were still trying to cling to the Soissons-St. Quentin road.

"Before noon the struggle which had given us five strenuous days, reached a point where one could breathe freely. For all tactical purposes of the future the Juvigny plateau may be considered ours."

PATRIOTIC LECTURE AND CONCERT

A patriotic lecture will be given by one of the leading experts and highest authorities on ordnance and arm-

munition of the U. S. war department under the auspices of the Lisbon club of Lowell on Sunday, Sept. 8, at Lincoln hall, over the Lowell Opera House. Doors open to invited guests at 2 p. m. After 2:30 the general public who are cordially invited will be admitted. After the lecture a pleasing concert will be given by Bonja's All Stars of Boston. Bonja's All Stars include: Bonja, dancer, singer, pianist and pianist; petite Marguerite Barter, soprano; who always has something amusing and entertaining; Louise Purcell, dancer and assistant instructor; Elvira O'Neil, dancer; the pleasing vocalist, Greta Campbell; Alma Nelson, dramatic singer and comedienne; dainty little Miss. Rosalie Vaden, operatic contralto; Marie Purcell, reader and soubrette; Miss. Anna Barreau, the blonde, the most striking personality of any singer on the stage. She also has one of the strongest voices ever heard in song. The company are girls, just girls, that's all. "They are all young, the youngest being 17 and the oldest about 19 years of age. Owing to the extreme youth of the members of the company they travel with three matrons and two chaperons. They are all enthusiastic and will undoubtedly give a pleasing concert.

GOOD PROGRAM AT CITY SWIMMING POOL

The program at the municipal swimming pool provided a great deal of interest both to the participants in the races and to the large crowd of spectators gathered there yesterday.

At the close of the event, the winners in the races were presented their prizes by Mayor Perry D. Thompson. There were demonstrations of rescue work of Officer Ryne as well as various swimming strokes. He also swam 100 yards to the raft, with his hands and feet tied. The rescuing feature was perhaps the greatest attraction, when he swam to the aid of the supposed drowning man. The "victim," a fellow of 245 pounds by the name of Boisvert, lay in an "almost" unconscious position near the raft, while his rescuer dove in from the bank and taking hold of his man brought him with almost unbelievable speed to the shore, where the laughing audience greeted him. After this there was a demonstration of artificial respiration, which proved instructive and interesting.

John Quill exhibited fancy diving. The dives included the "cannon-ball," the "angel," the "swallow," the "sitting-standing," and the backward somersault.

The program of races, the winners and their times were as follows:

100 yard swim, open to residents of Lowell: Walter Bourque, first; time 1:10; William Lyness, second.

50 yards swim for girls over 14: Eglantine Morin, first; (2:06.) Edith Hall, second.

50 yards swim for boys over 14: Andrew Molloy, first (37 seconds); Walter McVicker, second.

50 yards swim for girls under 14: Jeannette Dumas, first (22½ seconds); Anna Hall, second.

25 yard swim for boys under 12: Paul Farrell, first; (25 seconds); Frank Barrett, second.

100 yard swim, open to residents of Lowell: William Lyness, first, (1:50); Walter Bourque, second.

Relay race: 200 yards, between teams representing Centralville and Pawtucketville, won by the latter named, composed of William Lyness, Edward Sheldon, Walter Bourque and Frank Sawyer. Time: 1:51.

50 yard swim for boys under 14: Walter McVicker, first (48 seconds); Christopher Malo, second; Wilfred Lemelin, third.

The judges were Daniel Quill, John Murray and Andrew Molloy. Timers: Paul Hamel, Edward Barrett, Annanour, John Quill. Starter, Matthew McCann.

Use
Resinol
first for skin troubles

Delay in the proper treatment of skin troubles is dangerous. Every day spent in trying unproved remedies may only let the disorder spread and become more and more deeply seated. The value of Resinol Ointment is known. For over twenty years it has been used as a soothing, healing remedy for the skin.

If applied in time, it usually checks the itching and reduces the eruption right away. But even in stubborn, long-standing cases, it is surprising, how quickly this gentle, yet effective ointment brings results. All druggists sell Resinol Ointment. Beware of cheap imitations. The rich, buttery Resinol Ointment is the only one.

BRITISH SUBJECTS MAY ENLIST UP TO OCT. 12

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(Prevent) Marshal-General Crowder announced yesterday that he had been requested by the British embassy to give notice of the fact that British subjects, including declarants, who registered before July 30, may enlist voluntarily in the British or Canadian army up to and including Sept. 28. Those who registered on Aug. 24 may enlist until Sept. 23, and those who register on Sept. 12 may enlist up to October 12.

General Crowder called attention to the fact that during the period allowed for voluntary enlistment British subjects may apply for exemption to the British ambassador. At the end of the period, however, British subjects in each of these classes may no longer enlist in the British or Canadian army, but unless exempted by the British ambassador, become liable to military service and may claim exemption under the United States selective service law.

ANOTHER VICTORY OVER BOLSHEVIK FORCES

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The entente allied troops aided by Russian forces on Aug. 31 captured the enemy's positions north of Oboberskaya, 75 miles south of Archangel, according to an official report issued today by the British war office. The captured position was consolidated and a subsequent enemy counter attack was repulsed with heavy losses.

The allied troops are pushing on to Oboberskaya. The guns of the allied armored train were effective in the fighting.

Leaving Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Safe conduct for passage through Finland has been granted to citizens of allied countries seeking to leave Russia, the German war office, stating the policy of the Finnish government having made no objection to the arrangement.

Special trains will be provided for the refugees who include some 100 Americans, to carry them through Finland to the nearest Swedish port to embark for their homes.

WOMEN VOTE IN NEW YORK PRIMARIES

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3.—For the first time in the history of New York state, women today participated in the primary election for candidates for nomination to state, congressional, legislative and judicial affairs.

Governor Charles S. Whitman who is seeking the republican nomination for a third term was opposed by Attorney General Merion E. Lewis. On the democratic side the only contest was for the gubernatorial nomination, Alfred D. Smith, president of the board of aldermen of New York city and a former speaker of the assembly, who was the choice of the unofficial party convention at Saratoga, being opposed by William Church Osborn of Putnam.

GERMAN ATTEMPT TO MAKE PEACE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3.—Nydagligt Allehanda quotes Pieter Jelles Troelstra, the Dutch socialist leader, as saying in an interview at Lucerne that an attempt was made last January by the leaders of the three parties constituting the German reichstag majority to reach an agreement with the political pacifist leaders of England with the view to preparing the way for energetic action in favor of peace on the principles enunciated by President Wilson.

CENTRAVILLE M. E. CHURCH

There were patriotic services observed yesterday morning at the Centraville M. E. church. There have been some recent additions to the number of stars on the service flag, and it was unfurled and the honor roll with 23 names of the young men gone from this church was exhibited for the first time. The names of the enlisted men were read aloud and they are as follows:

In the army—Lieut. Andrew G. Jenkins, Lieut. Charles Case, Lieut. Hugo Markland, Walter F. Coburn, Frank W. Callahan, Derry W. F. Dow, Charles B. Garmon, Reginald B. Nichols, Geo. H. McElroy, Steven Glen Walton, Charles Crab, Harold Worth, Edward Lemple, Frederick Dolliver.

In the navy—Ensign George B. Garmon, Fred S. Currie, Isaac Rex Wotton, Joseph P. Garmon, Stanley Worth, Carl Luman, Andrew F. Swapp.

Canadian forces—William Chester Douglas, William Swift.

The Boy Scouts of America Girl Scouts of the church were present in a body.

EXPECT BIG VOTE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 3.—A record primary vote was expected to be cast in New Hampshire today as the voters went to the polls to select candidates for United States senator to succeed Senator Henry H. Hoiles, Democrat, who will retire in March. There were three aspirants for the Republican nomination, Governor Henry W. Keyes, former Governor Roland H. Spaulding and Rosecrans W. Pillsbury. All had active workers at the polls following campaigns in which every part of the state was covered.

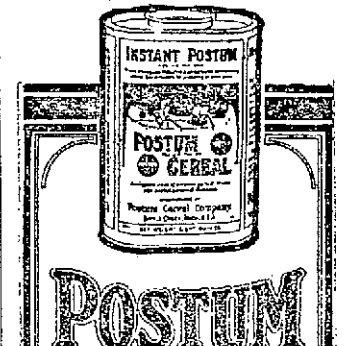

On the Democratic side there was also a contest. Eugene E. Reed, former congressman and until recently occupant of an important government post in the Philippines, and Albert W. Noone, a manufacturer, sought the honor of leading their party in November.

Men in close touch with state politics looked for a close vote and declined to hazard a prediction. The candidates and their supporters were all confident of victory. On the Republican side the situation was considered generally uncertain, due to complications arising as a result of the recent death of Senator Jacob H. Giltinger, Republican, George H. Moses, Republican leader for many years, was originally a candidate with Keyes, Spaulding and Pillsbury, but withdrew and announced he would seek the short term nomination to succeed Senator Gallinger. The candidate for this place will be named by the Republicans in convention. It was expected that the main running second in today's contest would be a constant with Moses before the convention.

A GREAT VICTORY

Sensational Breaking of Dro- court-Quant Switch Line Important for Allies

Regarded as One of Worst Disasters Inflicted Upon Germans in War

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The sensational breaking of the famous Drocourt-Quant switch line after a series of important allied advances with great captures of men and material has made an immense impression here. While too great confidence that the success can be maintained is deprecated and while the expectation is general that the enemy will make the most desperate efforts to recover the position, the blow is regarded as one of the worst disasters inflicted upon the Germans during the whole war and one which must cause their high command the deepest anxiety.

The belief is general that the switch line is the main system of German defense and that there is nothing so strong behind it. Consequently its loss, if it becomes final, opens the widest possibilities.

"Its loss would involve the evacuation of the French coal fields, perhaps even of the Flanders coast," says the Mail, "and would imperil the German hold on Douai, Valenciennes and Cambrai, which are essential to Hindenburg for maneuvering his armies. The switch line is thus the pivot of the whole German front and its breach means that they have forced the enemy to a struggle of man against man which he had used all of his ingenuity to avoid."

The Telegraph, also noting the danger to the important German centers of communication, says: "If the Germans cannot stand before Douai, Cambrai and St. Quentin, they can stand nowhere this side of the German frontier. If it is possible for them to fight harder and throw in reserves at a swifter rate than they have done in the last few days, they will do so. We doubt the possibility of their accomplishing either."

Other commentators remark that the Germans now pretend that they are retreating according to plan and are convinced that the retirement will be comparatively carried much further than they ever intended.

ELECTRIC CAR HITS AUTO

Three Men Injured in Pelham Yesterday Were Removed to St. John's Hospital

A serious collision occurred yesterday afternoon between a Lowell-bound car of the Massachusetts North-eastern Street Railway Co. and an auto truck owned by Stanley Plichna of Lowell. The accident occurred at the Joseph Smith residence in Pelham just as the truck was leaving the latter's yard. There were five persons in the truck, three of whom were so badly injured that they were ordered removed to St. John's hospital by Dr. H. O. Smith who was called to the scene of the accident.

The men who were injured had been employed on a wood lot at Mr. Smith's and were just leaving for home when the accident occurred. The electric automobile on account of the intervening buildings and Mr. Plichna drove directly onto the track in the front of the oncoming trolley. Motorman Joseph Marshall and Conductor Chester did all in their power to stop their car but all to no avail and the electric crashed into the auto, dragging it several rods before it could be stopped.

The names of the injured men are Simon Fornas, John Fornas, Knazak and Victor Schmidtmann. Stanley Plichna was slightly injured. Simon Fornas received the worst injuries was detained for many hours after being taken to the hospital but today he was reported as feeling more comfortably. However, the extent of his injuries has not yet been determined and he is under close observation by the doctors. He is about 40 years of age. John Fornas sustained a fractured arm and bad cuts on the back and elbow. Mike Knazak, 33 years old, received cuts on the back and other minor injuries. The other two men are in a very comfortable condition and their injuries are thought to be of a minor nature.

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH AND AMERICANS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Monday, Sept. 2 (By the Associated Press).—Localization in the activity of the infantry in the last two days has given the appearance of the relinquishment of the pressure on the flying German lines from the Somme to Soissons. The altered face of the battle is due to changes in the conditions of the ground and tactics, and though the fighting has been confined to comparatively short sectors north of Soissons, north of Noyon and around Nesle, engagements of the utmost importance have been in progress in which the allies have gained advantages that explain the enormous sacrifices the Germans made to hold them off at those points.

North of Soissons, General Mangin's forces after three days of furious combats in which positions were taken and retaken several times, have pushed forward on the plateau that overlooks the valley of the Ailette behind Chemin-des-Dames and from where the citadel of Laon, one of the stoutest pillars in the German secondary line of defense, may plainly be seen.

The French and Americans met around Juvigny the elite of the German army, Grenadiers of the Prussian Guard, picked storming battalions and hardy mountain infantrymen. They defeated them decisively, taking an enormous death tolls from their ranks and sending a goodly number of captives to the rear. The Associated Press correspondent saw a column of these prisoners filing back over the plateau to the west where while wood crosses over fresh graves marked the scene of recent defeats. Some were young but all were sturdy and humiliation and depression showed in their faces rather than the satisfaction exhibited by other prisoners over their final release from the inferno of war.

One Killed 200 Germans

The Americans co-operated in the attack on Juvigny with the type of tanks which the French have named "Chars d'assault" or shock cars. These engines of war have been called "armored infantry." They have all the suppleness of troops afoot with gruesome propulsion from their quick fire and cannon. One of these cars manned by a French lieutenant killed 200 Germans before Juvigny.

"It's good to see how these American 'tank' fight," a tank pilot said to the correspondent. "We are glad to fight with them. Together we will get the Germans."

Severe fighting has been going on north of Noyon, along the Meuse river and the Canal du Nord and around Nesle. After forcing the last fortified centers of resistance around Roys and Chaulnes, the French arrived at these points, confronting natural obstacles which the Germans utilized to beat advantage.

The course of the Somme and the canal running parallel before the front east of Nesle offered a double water line with marshy ground between. Forging there was so difficult that the roads were used, and the Germans concentrated artillery and machine gun fire on all the roads, bridges and approaches.

A well sustained fire of concealed infantry, supplemented by frequent counter attacks, made crossing extremely hazardous. But the French succeeded in forcing a crossing between Quierzy and Roucy-le-Petit at 6 o'clock last evening, slipping through the enemy's advanced positions to the edge of the plateau extending toward Ham and were attacking Hill 77 at last accounts.

MR. GOMPERS' MISSION

Today Samuel Gompers, the great labor leader, is being honored in England as head of a labor mission sent from this country for the purpose of unifying the aims of labor so far as possible in all the allied countries.

President Gompers has always been a safe and clear-headed leader. He has never fallen a victim to the whims of socialism and today, while he works hand in hand with President Wilson for a complete victory over Germany, he appeals to the laboring classes throughout the allied nations to stand loyally by the armies now fighting the battles of universal freedom against the ambition of the German militarists to dominate the world.

In deference to Mr. Gompers, the work or fight clause was eliminated from the new draft law, lest it should be said that labor was unwilling to do its full duty in the war without being conscripted. Thus far in the war, the laboring masses have done splendidly by the government. Without their co-operation the war cannot be successfully maintained whereas the aim now is to go in and end it as soon as possible.

Mr. Gompers has been highly honored in London as the representative of the United States and the head of the great Federation of Labor. In responding to the compliments paid him by Premier Lloyd George and other British officials, he said he "accepted the high ideals of President Wilson as to the allied aims in the war and the necessity of prosecuting it to a triumphant conclusion. American labor found it impossible to live in a nation dominated by Kaiserism and militarism. We dare not lose, we cannot lose, we must win."

It is well that the laborer has a champion who can so clearly set aside what is dangerous, however catchy or plausible it might be, and who can guide the legion of toilers along the paths that lead to the highest freedom to be found on this earth, a freedom governed by law with due respect for justice and the rights of all classes. If Mr. Gompers can bring the laborers of England, France and Italy to accept his views as to the outcome of the war, he will have accomplished an important point for their final emancipation.

It is hoped also, that the laborers of Germany and Austria may have an opportunity to learn something of what he has to say in regard to the principles of justice and human freedom involved in the war.

LABOR DAY.

The observance of Labor Day in this city was a great demonstration of patriotism. In no other city perhaps could a labor parade more convincingly portray the very important part that labor plays in maintaining our armies at the front. In yesterday's parade were thousands of the men who manufacture the ammunition used by our soldiers in France, other thousands who turn out the various fabrics required in the army and navy, while the patriotic features were designed to illustrate the intense loyalty of the paraders as a whole, and to show to what an extent the military forces of the nation must depend for sustenance upon the support of labor in the various essential industries.

The turnout was splendid in every particular and in size and appearance it was undoubtedly the best ever seen here. It was highly creditable to the organizations in line and the committees in charge. Well may it be said with President Wilson that "the army of labor at home is as important, as essential, as the army of fighting men in the far fields of actual battle, and that we realize as never before that we are comrades dependent upon one another, irreplaceable when united, powerless when divided. And so we join hands to lead the world to a new and better day."

I. W. W. CONVICTIONS

At last the I. W. W. leaders seem to have come to their own. Haywood and his large corps of organizers and lieutenants have been sentenced to long terms in a federal prison on various charges of conspiracy against the government of the United States, against the prosecution of the war and in direct opposition to the draft.

Judge Landis in reviewing the testimony, found abundant proof of the charges and made a statement that should be a warning to others who may have any disposition to adopt the principles or policies of the I. W. W. It was this:

"In times of peace you have a legal right to oppose by free speech, propaganda for war. But when war has been declared that right ceases forthwith."

There are a great many people other than the I. W. W. who do not realize this fact and who have talked very wildly at times; but the Chicago trial will offer a valuable lesson to all who might be disposed to offend in this direction. It is gratifying to know that the death knell of the I. W. W. has been sounded in this country and that no longer will professional revolutionists be allowed to go about, organizing their followers for the commission of crimes against the government, their ultimate aim being to overthrow the constitution of the United States and establish a reign of anarchy. The Chicago court has done an excellent piece of work.

extent of saying it wasn't enough to procure a ride on their street cars. An odd explanation, surely.

If it needs the same measures and costs as much to correct each of whatever other bad habits Max Levine of Quincy has, as in the case of the Quincy police court judge making him pay $25 for using an American flag as a kerchief, we believe it will certainly profit Max to get more familiar with American customs and possibly buy a 25 cent book on correct deportment.

Now the morning light is breaking and the sun will soon appear.

And I turn, and in my pillow bury deep the other ear.

Going home on the car the other night were three girls.

Each had the evening paper, and each were heading the war news on the front page.

One of them was one of those rascals who read it out loud to you when you're reading the same stuff.

She Was Innocent

Her name was Sister Billy and she had two big sisters whose habit was to have beaux on Sunday afternoons.

Some of the beaux seemed to seek the approval of Sister Billy and would converse with her affably during their visits. No one's feelings, were hurt.

Billy was only 4. One day her sisters watched her strolling in the garden with a young man. They seemed absorbed in each other, but Billy was doing all the talking. They watched the pair for several minutes, and in all that time the young man did not speak, nor did he for one second change his attitude of eager attention.

Both sisters were dying with curiosity. They wondered nervously what secret the little lamb could be disclosing. As soon as the door had closed on Mr. Brown, Sister Billy was fixed with four sister eyes.

"What were you saying to Mr. Brown?" they asked.

Sister Billy's eyes dropped and she faltered:

"I was saying the Lord's Prayer to him."—Chicago Herald.

A Bear to Boot

It is very probable that Costello Robinson, who lives in the backwoods township of Albany, N. H., is the only man who hunts bears by kicking them.

He was recently on his way to work on the road that leads to Gumm's quarry and happened to have a rifle with him.

Suddenly he came on two half-grown black bear cubs. Up went his rifle, and one cub fell dead, the other took speedily to a tree. It came over Costello that the other cub would be worth more to him alive than dead, and he began to shout lustily for assistance.

His cries reached the ears of Orrin Tyler, on whose land the bears were trespassing, and he hurried to the spot.

"What'll ye take for 'em, Orrin, jest as they be?" asked Costello.

"O, they're worth ten dollars, I guess," replied the farmer.

Meantime the bear thought it was time to make his escape, and he began to back down the tree.

"Look out, Costello, or ye'll lose him!" cried Orrin.

"Not much, I won't!" cried Robinson, and as the bear neared the ground, growling menacingly, Costello drew back with a powerful swing landed a kick where a kick would naturally terminate in such a case. With a scream of outraged dignity and pain, the bear shut back up the tree.

Orrin started up after him, but the bear managed to keep on the opposite side of the big pine trunk, and when Orrin was well up among the branches the bear scrambled rapidly down the trunk again.

Costello was right on the spot, however, and ready with his powerful boot.

That treatment he administered on seven different occasions, and each time the bear went whimpering back into the tree. Finally the men understood that they must have a rope in order to make any progress.

"You go get one, Orrin," said Costello.

"I'll see that he doesn't get away."

"R'm, yes; but I guess I'd better have my money fast," said Orrin.

Costello agreed, and redoubled his guard lest both bear and cash should be lost. The bear tried again and again to escape; he circled, he slid he dropped from limb to limb, but he always found Costello ready with his relentless boot, until, too sore to relish any more of that game, he perched on a branch and awaited his fate. The mother bear, if there was one in the neighborhood, did not appear, and when Orrin, accompanied by Elijah Mason, came back with a rope, the three men lassoed the bear and lowered it to the ground, a biting snarling tangle of fury, disgust and entire loss of self-respect.

Costello collected the $5 state bounty on the dead bear and sold the live one for $15—Youth's Companion.

BIG MASS MEETING ON SOUTH COMMON

A patriotic mass meeting held on the common last evening and arranged as a fitting close for the holiday was attended by several thousands of the friends of labor in this city.

Commissioner Frank A. Warrack was the presiding officer and the list of speakers included Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Daniel J. Donahue, and Rev. N. W. Matthews. The Lowell Military band provided music suitable to the occasion.

Previous to the presentation of the speakers, Commissioner Warrack, in behalf of the members of the band and several friends, presented Conductor Oswald Bamber a beautiful baton. With the gift went the sincerest wishes of the givers for a successful future for the popular conductor.

After the national hymn had been rendered by the entire assemblage, Commissioner Warrack spoke briefly on the significance of the day to the millions of laborers throughout the country. He emphasized the fact that in this present struggle labor is playing an all important part in the carrying on of the war by the champions of democracy.

"It is so important," said he, "that we do our bit over here, as it is for the boys in the front line trenches. Labor has never been found wanting when a call for a just cause has been made, and you can rest assured that labor is doing and will continue to do more than her full share in the present conflict."

Mayor Thompson also dwelt on the fact that labor has always been an important factor when a country is in the throes of a life and death struggle such as the present war. He pointed out that there is something for everyone to do and we all should consider it our solemn duty to carry it through as best we can.

"The boys over there are willingly sacrificing their all for us, and in return we should be anxious to make their path as easy as possible," the mayor said.

Rev. N. W. Matthews gave a very interesting talk and he was followed by Nathaniel Polycodde sprang to his feet, tugging at the flock of his distinctive garb. Into the study burst Marcella Polycodde, presenting a moving spectacle of excitement.

"Nathaniel," she moaned, "all is lost! The fire is out! What shall I do?"

But the great inventor was a man of true grandeur.

"Marcella," he rejoined, "it is in these terrible crises that our keenest faculties are aroused. The fire is out, you say? Then I will invent a way to light it."

Marcella moaned again. Her distress was terrible.

"But the coal is out also," she sobbed.

Nathaniel Polycodde was annoyed.

"This is not clever, Marcella," he said. "If there is no coal I cannot invent a way to build the fire. You must obtain some coal."

"But how, Nathaniel?" wept Marcella.

"Mr. Gurfield has dictated away all the coal, and the children have crows."

"That I cannot answer," said Nathaniel. "Please leave me to my meditations, Marcella."

Several hours later Marcella hurried to her spouse.

"Nathaniel," she cried, "I have thought of a way to save us. I will burn the Congressional Records and the back numbers of the Spool Magazine!"

But her husband only gazed rapidly at a small object in his hand.

"Marcella!" he cried, "how fortunate are our misfortunes! I have just perfected an invention which will be of infinite use in my hand. I hold the new extension grapefruit shield. It prevents the juice from squirting in one's eye!"—Detroit Free Press.

D. J. Donahue, who spoke in part as follows.

"Who gives the best that is in him for his country's sake is the best patriot, whether his sacrifice be made on the field of battle, or his services be given in the shop."

"Not every man may face the hazard of the field; war is as choice as it is relentless in its demands; and only the young, the brave, the fair, the physically sound, are chosen to meet the country's enemies in battle, for only such can meet the perils of the onslaught, the weariness of the march, the dirt and disease of camp and trench, the sleepless toll of the night, the rigors and inclemencies of climate and the season's change."

"The soldier is the fighting front of our country's armies, the apex of the phalanx, the first wave of the onrushing stream that strikes the turbine of war, the initial force that hits the bloody wheels that weave the fabric of victory for the country and disaster for the foe."

"The soldier is the hammer that strikes the blow, but the power behind that gives it force and effect—the energy that guides and sustains the hammer, is labor."

"If we have learned any lesson from Armageddon it is this—That nations are powerful in war only in proportion to the volume and effectiveness of the industrial organization back of its armies and navies; and these are potent or powerless, as labor is patriotic or perfidious."

"The blows of battle will be struck on the bloody fields of Europe, but the victory we all so ardently desire will be organized and won in the farms and forests, the mills and mines, the shops and shipyards of America; for as surely as the service and sacrifice of Pershing and his men spell defeat for the insolent soldiery of Germany, the sweat and toil of organized and unselfish labor means victory for America and permanent peace for our people."

"In such an hour as this in this greatest peril and trial of our history, American labor takes on a nobler dignity, a nobler responsibility, its services assume a greater and more splendid significance, for in its industry, efficiency and constancy lie the safety and permanency of democratic liberty, human happiness and peace and the well-being of the world."

"The world has always known the value and importance of labor though it has stubbornly refused to give it the recognition its work has deserved, as the foundation, the conservator and moving force of our civilization. Rome, the mother of our modern civilization, knew the value of labor when the old Roman writer said: 'Labor omnia vincit, labor conquers all.'"

"American labor has reason to be proud of the service it is giving to the country in this war, even as America is proud of the patriotic men and women who put all self aside to contribute their skill and energy to the common cause. It has been well said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where one only grew before is a friend of his race; and it can be said with equal truth that he who makes the soil yield two bushels of food where only one was harvested before, who doubles the product of his loom, who multiplies the output of the mine and the machine, who adds to the tonnage of our ships and the freight of our rails, who puts his soul into his work and his sweat into the cause of his country—that man, that woman, that girl is a patriot and a lover of humanity."

"You have demonstrated your patriotism by your sweat; your industry and devotion to your country in days of war. Let your patriotism be as sincere and pure in the days of peace and let it be exhibited by industry, fairness, fidelity to principle, to manhood and honor and by that firm adhesion to the self-respect and respect for all that constitutes the highest type of Americanism. Be true to yourself and to your country; be just and fear not."

WEeping ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

Washington

I had an attack of Weeping eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times.

I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives (or Fruit Liver Tablets)' and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief. Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tives', and am entirely well."

G. W. HALL.

Both these remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent by FRUIT-A-TIVES Limited, GEDENSBURG, N.Y.

'Fruit-a-tives' is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

and the new age will be the age of labor and true democracy.

"All hail then, to labor, for our common country let us honor worth, let us dry the mourner's tear, let us recall the smile to the pallid lip, let us cheer the aching heart, let us raise aloft the symbol of our country in God's name and know the Stars and Stripes shall wave o'er a free and chastened world."

LINEN SHOWER

A linen shower was tendered by the Bachelor Girls Friday evening to Miss Mary Gallagher at her home, 10 Fisher street. During the evening the president of the club in behalf of the club members, presented Miss Gallagher a beautiful statue. The bride-to-be responded in a fitting manner. Also the same evening Miss Julia Dolan, the vice president of the club, who is to become the bride of Mr. Patrick McDermott, was presented a beautiful pedestal. The party broke up at a late hour all wishing both brides-to-be much good luck and happiness.

It is stated that every piece of anti-aircraft machinery used to repel German air raids over England has been made by British women.

MEMORIAL SERVICE
Rev. Walter A. Woodbury observed a memorial service yesterday at the Worthen Street Baptist church for the late George M. Gallagher, agent ate Stewart McLean, who was recently killed in action, "Over There." Members of the family were present, including two sisters of the soldier. Rev. Mr. Woodbury spoke of the patriotic spirit shown by this young soldier, in making the "supreme sacrifice" for the cause of democracy. He also dwelt on the sacrifices made by the family and said that these sacrifices which are being made everywhere, everyday, cannot help but signify to the allies that American soldiers are in earnest and proving it even to the greatest test. George S. Drew was the soloist.

CO-BELLIGERENT

United States Government
Has Recognized Czechoslovak Peoples

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The United States has recognized the Czechoslovak peoples as a co-belligerent nation in the war against Germany and Austria-Hungary. In extending recognition, Secretary of State Lansing said:

"The Czechoslovak peoples having taken up arms against the German and Austrian empires, and having placed organized armies in the field, which are waging war against those empires under officers of their own nationality and in accordance with the rules and practices of civilized nations."

"The government of the United States recognizes that a state of belligerency exists between the Czechoslovak states organized and the German and Austro-Hungarian empires."

"Tremendous political significance is attached in diplomatic quarters to today's action by the United States."

MAJOR OF THE O. M. I. CADETS RESIGNS

There will be an important meeting of the O.M.I. Cadets tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., will announce several important changes in the organization. All cadets are urged to attend as arrangements are to be made concerning the dedication of Cardinal O'Connell parkway on Columbus day, when the cadets will act as an escort to the cardinal. There will be an officers' meeting tonight at which business of importance will be transacted.

Among the business to come before the meeting tonight will be the action on the resignation of Maj. Joseph Boyd, who is retiring to go to new fields of labor in another city. Maj. Boyd has been at the head of the cadets for two years, succeeding Maj. William Conroy, who is now in France as a member of the American forces. During his incumbency he has done much to increase the membership and in other ways help the popular organization, and his retirement is regretted by all connected with the cadets. It is expected that at the officers' meeting tonight, plans will be made to tender a testimonial to the retiring major.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Today was a busy day in police court, the dock being crowded with offenders even after 42 first timers had been released by the probation officer. Michael J. Sherry was arraigned on a complaint charging him with operating a motor vehicle without having a certificate of registration. He was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed. Fred W. Park was charged with a similar offense and he also was fined $5.

John Hendricks was charged on two complaints with operating an automobile without a license and while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Hendricks was the driver of the machine which crashed into a jitney owned by Amos Best of this city Sunday evening on the Lawrence road, resulting in serious injuries to two young women who were riding with Hendricks.

Peter Riola, the driver of the jitney told of finding a large quantity of whiskey and other liquors in Hendricks' machine after the crash. He also said that just previous to the accident the defendant had acted queerly, driving his machine from one side of the road to the other so that the collision could not be avoided.

Hendricks said that he was on his way from Lawrence to Lowell at the time of the accident and he stated that he had picked up the girls in Lawrence together with two men who claimed to be their husbands.

His Honor thought that the case warranted closer investigation and so he found the man guilty on both complaints and deferred sentence until Thursday.

David H. Daiselle and Theresa E. Pepin were charged with a statutory offense. The man had his case continued until Saturday in order to clear up some doubt in the mind of the court whether he had registered or not. The case of the woman was put over until tomorrow.

Alfred O. Caponi who is charged with assault and battery had his case continued until Saturday for trial.

Thomas F. Sheehan, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail. Michael P. McDermott was fined $10 and Oscar G. Baker $5.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Continued advances by American troops north of the Alps in spite of strong enemy resistance, are reported by General Pershing in his communique for Monday, announcing the capture of Torny-Sorny.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Agreement was reached by the house today to begin work next Friday on the new revenue bill, by which the American people will pay in taxes approximately $3,012,732,000 of this year's estimated war expenditure of $34,000,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—More than 40,000 manufacturers using steel have been called upon by the War Industries board to make complete reports of their steel stocks. It is intimated that this step is preparatory to commandeering for war use all surplus supplies of steel.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Resumption of dealings in stocks today was characterized by a continuance of the recent firmness, especially in rails. That group registered many substantial gains in the first half hour under the load of Union Pacific, Great Northern preferred, New Haven and Southern Railway, although Reading eased slightly. Steels, coppers, shippings and equipments were fractionally over last week's final quotations. International bonds as well as domestic issues were steady to firm.

Stocks materially enhanced their gains before noon, the sweeping retreat of the German forces prompting further covering and investment purchases. Rails remained in the foreground, but industrials secured a stronger footing as United States Steel's rise to 113, an extreme advance of 14 points. Other noteworthy gains included low-priced rails, such as Missouri Pacific and Rock Island, General Electric, American Sugar and Tobacco, Liberty bonds were strong, especially the 3 1/2's.

Another spirited advance in U. S. Steel and a five point gain in Hide & Leather preferred were the features of the active final hour. The closing was strong.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—Trading in stocks was brisk but confined largely to railroad issues and steel.

Trading slackened during mid-day but prices continued upward under the influence of U. S. Steel. Related issues rose 1 to 1 1/2 points higher and only a few minor declines were noted. General Motors was the only conspicuous exception, declining three points.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

It is doubtful if a Lowell stock company ever ushered in a season or made a record as successful as the one now being presented at the Opera House. The company, under the management of Mr. J. W. Sullivan, has been in the city for a week and has already secured a large following. The company is composed of some of the best talent in the country and has been in the city for a week and has already secured a large following. # KEITH'S THEATRE

There were few vacant seats at the Keith's theatre when it opened its eighth season of vaudeville, Monday, and the program was a very good one. The headline is a musical act, but there is something more than music to it. It is a sort of novelty act, and the audience was very much interested. # MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Roy A. Morgan and Miss Ruth Gilchrist were married Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Gilchrist, 32 Bellevue street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. N. W. Mathers of the Gorbam Street P. M. church.

BIG GASTON RALLY

Several hundred voters attended the open air rally, which was held at city hall Saturday evening in the advancement of the candidacy of Col. Gaston, democratic candidate for governor.

HEFFERNAN-Lennon

Miss Edith Marie Lennon, daughter of Dr. J. F. Lennon, formerly of Lowell, was married Saturday for St. Mary's rectory by Rev. Alphonsus Jett, in Pawtucket, R. I., to William J. Heffernan, formerly of Salem, Mass., now engaged in an official capacity with an automobile truck company and a resident of Lowell.

LABOR DAY PARADE

The ranks until the last inch of ground had been covered. There were several attractive features in the parade, notably the great number of men in khaki from Camp Devens, the large number of women, who stood the strain of march throughout, and the several floats, indicative of the spirit in which the 1918 celebration was organized.

Forming the Parade

The parade formed on the four sides of the South common, the front resting on Thordike and Summer streets, and was headed by Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department in the department automobile, which also contained the following women of the Lowell Textile council: Miss Annie Duffy, secretary of the Woolen and Worsted Weavers; Miss Margaret Worthington of Mayflower lodge, Wavers; Miss Mary Brown of the Cotton Weavers and Miss Margaret Angus of the Ballers and Weavers.

Then came a platoon of police, headed by Lieut. Martin F. Connors. Next in line were about 600 Greek speaking soldiers of Camp Devens, who were guests of the local Greek community for the day. They were commanded by Lieut. W. F. Livingston, Jr., of the 42d Division, who has been in the line for the last three months in the trenches of France was sent to Camp Devens as an instructor.

Assisting him was Lieut. H. J. Shanley, Jr. The soldiers marched to music furnished by the Lowell Helene band and they made a very fine showing. Following them were the directors of the Greek community, headed by President C. Vurgaropoulos and the three leading local Greek physicians, Dr. John K. Galsopoulos, Dr. George Demopoulos and Dr. Demosthenes Gennepoulos.

Camp Devens, W. F. Slade, George F. Harvey, Howard F. Legg and Samuel F. Bumpus, were also in line in uniform.

The Lowell Cadet band, led by Joseph P. Convery, headed the first division, which followed Chief Marshal Francis A. Warnock and his staff. The first division was marshalled by John W. Downing, vice president of the Lowell Textile council, and consisted of the Lowell Helene band, and a group of men in uniform, some in khaki and some in uniform.

Local 70, Firefighters, came next with Capt. Brown of the Lawrence street house in command. There were 40 men in line and they made a fine showing. A large representation of Operating Engineers attired in blue shirts, dark trousers and black caps came next, and they were followed by automobiles containing Society of Chas. E. Anderson, Marion, and Brother McVey of the Brewery Workers. Other autos contained Mrs. Joseph F. Convery, Mrs. Fred L. Campbell and Mrs. Annie Odel of the Trades and Labor council; T. F. Garvey, Cigar Makers; Jacob Weichel, Brewery Workers; John J. Butlerworth, John Mahan, board of health; Master Lester Gordon, Mrs. Lillian Kelley of the Beaters; Miss Josie Monroe, Deamers; Miss Grace

PLANS MATURING FOR ARMY AND NAVY DAY

Progress in the plans for the Lowell Army and Navy day on Sept. 21st, is quite satisfactory. Mr. Geo. E. Brown, director of the first naval district, has assured the Lowell war camp community service of the fullest co-operation of the navy department. A meeting between the athletic director of Camp Devens, Mr. Brown and the executive secretary of Lowell war camp community service will soon be held when detailed plans will be outlined.

Relative to the preparations for the event the following letter was received yesterday by Mr. B. S. Pouzner from George V. Brown, director of athletics, first naval district, commission on training activities:

Navy Dept. Commission on Training Activities, First Naval District, Boston, Sept. 2, 1918.

My Dear Mr. Pouzner:

I assure you it will give me much pleasure to co-operate with you in the making of your games on Sept. 21 a pronounced success. This week we are very busy preparing for Star games which will be held at Harvard stadium next Saturday. This day to my mind will be one of the greatest exhibitions ever given of our country and with the assistance of Capt. Nellian, athletic director of Camp Devens, I see no reason why your committee cannot be equally as good show at Lowell on Sept. 21, thereby giving the residents of your city and surrounding towns an opportunity to see what is being done in the army and navy for the men in service. I am much pleased to learn that your committee is so anxious to give for your carnival and I will assist you in every possible way.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE V. BROWN,
Director of Athletics, First Naval District, Commission on Training Activities.

FUNERAL NOTICES

MEERER—The funeral of Robert Meeker, who died last Saturday, will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the chapel of C. E. Molloy Sons, Market street, where services will be held. Burial in the Eden cemetery under the direction of Undertakers C. H. Molloy Sons.

MORE LOWELL MEN FOR 128,302 HUNS CAPTURED

CAMP DEVENS

About 50 young men from this city left this morning for Camp Devens, where they were inducted into the national army. No demonstration of any kind marked the departure of the young soldiers, for according to orders recently received from military headquarters the trip to the camp was made by electric and there was no special time set for the leaving of the men, providing they reached Ayer before noon. The following men were scheduled to leave:

THE BIGGEST TOMATO

Mr. Samuel McCutcheon boasts the biggest tomato in Lowell. Mr. McCutcheon lives at 45 Clark street and the tomato was grown in his war garden in Old Meadow road. The tomato weighed two pounds and two ounces.

FAREWELL PARTY

George Raymond Brown was given a farewell party on Sunday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury, 40 Congress avenue. He left early this morning for Camp Devens. His many friends and relatives presented him some very useful gifts, including a traveling bag, fountain pen, soldier's kit, purse of money and a wrist watch. The gathering was entertained with singing and everyone extended best wishes to the new soldier. Mr. Brown has been employed by the Boston Ice Cream Co.

CITY HALL JANITOR

John M. Hogan, former janitor at the Lexington av. school and secretary for the Lowell aerie of Eagles, has had his name placed on the janitorial list at city hall by Commissioner Frank A. Warnock of the public buildings department and he started on his new work this morning.

Mr. Hogan was appointed to fill the position of John W. Downing, made vacant by Mr. Downing's promotion to assistant messenger, the position formerly filled by Cornelius J. Cronin, who recently resigned to accept a government position in this city.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

Mr. Bernard A. Tulley, a popular member of the Mathews, was tendered a farewell reception at their rooms yesterday and was presented a soldier's kit. Later in the evening a banquet was given him. The young soldier left the following day for military service at Camp Devens. All wished him the best of luck in his new life.

ACCIDENT BOARD WANTS FURTHER PROOF

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Sept. 3.—The Industrial Accident Board today decided that it must have further proof that Richard Cosgrove of Lowell cannot work before it will allow him continuance of compensation for a fractured leg, suffered by falling from a pole while employed by the Lowell Electric Light company in January, 1917. Payments of $10 a week were stopped June 28 last.

Several jobs were offered Cosgrove of late but he has declined to accept them. He maintains that they are not suitable to a man in his physical condition. One was in the shop of the Lamson Store Service company. I was told that it was a sitting down job," said Cosgrove, "but when I got there the foreman told me it was a sitting down job at times and at other times it wasn't. He himself said it wasn't a job for me."

Offered a place at the Bleachery, Cosgrove asserted it would take him several hours each day in reaching the shop. Asked if he couldn't take the trolley cars, he reminded the board that even at that he would have to walk no considerable distance. "I would be glad to take any job if I could get back and forth to it," he added.

"My leg is in pain all the time," he said. "If I go down the street I have to stop now and then for a rest. And if it were not for the banisters it would be difficult for me to go up and down stairs." He contended that at the present time he is in no condition to work.

Dr. Robert G. McCullough of Providence, the family physician, testified that Cosgrove would be a cripple always and that it will be a long time before he will be able to use his leg. "Perhaps some time it will adjust itself so that he can get around fairly well but it will take a long time—two or three years," said the doctor. "If he had a position where he could sit at a desk and use his hands and head, and could be taken back and forth to work, he could do it. If a long walk were involved he could not go back and forth; if it were a short walk, he could. He will have difficulty in climbing stairs and will always have to drag that leg behind."

Commissioner Boyle in his decision says: "I am not satisfied, upon all the evidence, that the employee has made a reasonable effort to perform the work which was obtained for him by the insurance company, that, notwithstanding any incapacity due to injury which may exist, he is able to perform work at which he can earn wages, and that by reason of his unreasonable refusal to attempt to perform and not seeking to obtain such employment he has been incapacitated for work since compensation was stopped. Therefore, no compensation is due him under the act at this time."

"Should the employee use reasonable diligence in the matter of seeking and performing work which may be obtained in the present state of the labor market and thus fix his earning capacity, his right is reserved to come in under part III, section 13, and the general provisions of the act, and have his compensation rate determined, should he earn less than $16.50 a week, because of a condition due to his injury."

HOYT.

MATRIMONIAL

Brunelle-O'Brien

A very pretty military wedding took place last Monday evening when Mr. Blaise Brunelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Brunelle, of 517 Tavetucket street, and Miss Elizabeth O'Brien, daughter of Mrs. Annie O'Brien, of 3 Rockdale avenue, were married at the rectory of St. Patrick's parish, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Callahan. The bride was becomingly attired in a blue travelling suit with picture hat to match and she carried

COST OF WAR

Government Expenditures in August Broke All Monthly

Records by $100,000,000

Total on Reports to Today

Amounts to $1,714,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Government war expenditures in August broke all monthly records by more than $100,000,000, amounting to $1,714,000,000 on reports up to today. Later reports may raise this by $50,000,000.

Ordinary war expenses amounted to $1,465,000,000, or $200,000,000 more than last month's high record. This did not include outlays of last Saturday yet to be tabulated. Loans to allies were reported as $244,000,000, not including Saturday.

LOWELL MAN ARRESTED WITH I.W.W. MEMBERS

Among the I. W. W. members recently arrested in Illinois, some of whose convictions were announced last week, was John Avilla, formerly of this city and known to people in the vicinity of upper Central street from the fact that he was the proprietor for some time of a barber shop near the Central street entrance of the Opera House and had made a large number of acquaintances in this city.

Avilla was 26 or 27 years of age and, born in Illinois, a number of years ago, and the figure of the tall, slim leader, always wearing a velvet slouch hat, will be well remembered by many local people. Although he was an active figure at that time, his actions were not of the disorderly sort and never got him in trouble.

Avilla was 26 or 27 years of age and, of course, a registrant in the draft of June 5, 1917. He was a registrant of Division 2 in this city and last winter was wanted for failing to comply with the instructions of the exemption board of that division. He left Lowell during the winter and the board had been unable to get in touch with him for some time. Finally he was located in Cook's county, Illinois, and several months ago he wrote to the local exemption board that he had been arrested by the government for his connection with the alleged unpatriotic proceedings of the I. W. W. In his letter he expressed penitence for his actions. Whether he has been given a penitentiary term or has been sent to an army camp, it is not known. His name did not appear among those who were given sentences by Judge Landis last week. Local exemption board officials incline to the view that he has been sent to an army camp.

It is understood that Avilla has a wife and several children living in Lowell at the present time. A bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary O'Brien, who was also attired in blue and carried Killarney roses. The best man was Mr. Leo Brunelle, brother of the groom. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After a brief honeymoon the bride will make her home in this city, while the groom will return to his ship in Norfolk, Va. Mr. and Mrs. Brunelle received many useful wedding gifts.

The Saco-Lowell section, which came next, also proved interesting. A feature of this section was a handsome float depicting three girls in overalls as well as several men, all at work. The girls were Miss Jennie Pearson, on the left; Miss Rose Dorson, straightening spindles, and Miss Anna Keefe,

The members of Mayflower lodge, 738, I. A. of M., spared nothing to make "France." These women were attired in the uniform of the country each represented and their appearance was splendid. The Federated Crafts of the B. & M. car shops had about 300 men in line and they carried their service flag containing 267 stars. Al. Kinnon led the members of Local 745, Machinists, who are employed as fixers at the U. S. Cartridge company, and this organization was one of the greatest in line. The men wore white shirts, dark trousers, straw hats and carried red, white and blue canes. A feature of this section was the float representing a dug-out, two men attired in the U. S. A. uniform operating an Enfield machine gun and a bayoneted rifle. This float proved very pleasing.

The rear of this division was taken up by the blacksmiths and helpers and die grinders and polishers, who were in command of Frank Wilson and Thomas McCann.

In the front of the third division were the employees of the health department with President Murry Lyons in charge, the municipal employees were the allied nations, Miss Ann Salter, "America," Miss Claire McLaughlin, "England," and Miss Eva Gagnon, headed by President T. F. Finnegan, the city teamsters in command of Michael Kelley, the pavers and ramblers with a handsome float, showing the work in which they are engaged. They were under the command of President P. J. Garrity.

Next in line came the bartenders, the barbers and brewery workers. The bartenders were attired in white coats, black trousers and black caps as were the barbers. The latter had a pretty float containing all the fixings of a well appointed barber shop with three barbers at work.

The fourth division included the mill carpenters, who had a huge float containing samples of their work. They were headed by President F. H. Greenwood. The electrical workers came next, with the telephone girls in the lead, headed by Miss Helen Moran, president. John J. Wade commanded the men's section. A feature of the girls' section was a float rigged up with telephone lines, as well as telephone instruments and a switch board. The stationary firemen followed in charge of Thomas F. Quinn, and then came the coal teamsters and chauffeurs headed by William Lowe.

The fifth and last division was made up of the textile workers, with Dana E. Hart acting as marshal. The Felted Textile Workers were first in line and they were followed by the Dresser Tenders. Then came the Woolen Spinners, the Beams' with their float representing a beaming operation, the Manchester Loomfixers and the Lowell Loomfixers.

The parade left the South common and covered the following route: Thorndike street, to Middlesex street, to Gorham street, to Davis square, to Central, to Merrimack, to Bridge, to Fifth, to Read, to Sixth, to Bridge, to Merrimack, to Moody, to Cabot, to Merrimack and to Dutton street. It was reviewed at city hall by the city fathers and later at Dutton street by the chief marshal and staff and dismissed.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Commissioners Charles J. Morse, James E. Donnelly and George H. Brown acted as judges and at the close of the parade announced the prize winners as follows:

Best trade feature, Telephone Operators, first; second, Saco-Lowell shop girls, Machinists, 135. Best appearing union, Mayflower lodge, Local 733, Machinists, Cartridge shop girls first; second, Barbers. Largest number of men, Machinists, Local 745, fixers of Cartridge shop, first; second, Machinists, Local 135. Best trade motto, Pavers and Ramblers, first; second, Woolen Spinners.

PARADE NOTES

What is so rare as a day in September like yesterday?

Fireman Joseph Convery, aid to the chief marshal, carried a service flag of his own design to the parade. The service flag, bound in gilt, was besides and connected with a small silk American flag. There were two stars on the service flag, one for Leo F., and the other for Joseph F., Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. Convery. Leo has been in the fight "over there" almost since the beginning, and Joseph F. is a fireman on the U.S.S. Columbia.

Freddie Hall drove the American Express van carrying the casket destined for "Kaiser Bill." Fred says he has signed up for the job with the Lowell boys now "over there" when they march on the palace in Berlin.

One of the proudest men in line was John J. Carroll, president of the Machinists' union, who has done much personally to bring the union's membership up to its present strength.

"Mike" Mahoney showed that he is there yet as an athlete in the games on the common. His hop, step and jump was far and away the best of the day and one of the best ever seen.

The picture of the human flag marching along beside the boys in khaki during the countermarch on Bridge street had a wealth of meaning to it indeed and if one did not applaud it was a feature fraught with deeper significance than mere hand-clapping at tests.

Sergeant Hurley of Company M, one of the returned soldiers from the war-swept vales of France, was the cynosure of all eyes and he marched with true soldierly bearing.

of the parade were carried numerous banners calling attention to the millions of members of the union in this country, the thousands in the service

tion was the float representing a dug-out, two men attired in the U. S. A. uniform operating an Enfield machine gun and a bayoneted rifle. This float proved very pleasing.

their section of the parade one of the most attractive and they succeeded in their efforts. They represented a living American flag and won applause all along the line. Heading the section
